FDR Calls Pacific War Council Session

CHURCHILL TO BE AT MEETING WITH LEADERS

President and Prime Minister Reported in Accord on Shipping Plan.

Two Opposition Movements Develop in Britain Against Government.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt today called a special meeting of the Pacific war council for tomorrow at the White House. Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain will be present.

White House Secretary Stephen T. Early also announced that Prime Minister W. L. MacKenzie King of Canada is en route to Washington to attend the war council meeting "and later conferences."

Tomorrow's meeting will be the first since last Wednesday when members of the war council received President Manuel Quezon of the Philippines into the group and studied reports of the Midway battle and of Japanese landings in the Aleutians.

At that meeting members also reported they had received a promise of "good news" on the shipping situation. Since then, however, reports of ship sinkings have increased.

The shipping situation was the subject of the extended conference in which Churchill participated yesterday.

At tomorrow's meeting will be representatives of Australia, New Zealand, China, the United Kingdom, the United States, the Philippines, Canada and the Netherlands.

Meanwhile, Early said, the British-American conferences which started with Churchill's arrival in this country last week "are continuing."

Churchill Expected To Challenge Foes

Grand Jury Meets Today, 2 Murder Cases Top Docket

The Richland county grand jury convened this morning to investigate nearly 25 criminal casse, two involving murder charges, during a session that is expected to require the rest of the week.

Acting Prosecutor John C. O'Donnell and Charles H. Freehafer, assistant prosecutor, will submit the cases to the jury in the absence of Prosecutor Harold T. Lutz who is at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., awaiting a final report on his induction into the army.

Highlighting the jury session will be a probe of the slaying of Mrs. Mary Johnson, 25, colored, of Mansfield and Charles Dickerson, 31, Mansfield reformatory inmate.

John Johnson, 42, husband of the slain woman, is held on a second degree murder charge, and Ernest Moore, 19-year-old reformatory inmate, was charged

Can All You Need, Tip to Housewives

OPA Assures Plentiful Sugar Supply for Preserving Fruit.

Although certain fruit crops may be small this summer, Richland county housewives were assured today by the Office of Price Administration that they will have enough sugar to can all the fruit they need.

Promising that no fruit will be permitted to waste in Ohio this season, the rationing division of the OPA said women canning for their own use will be allowed one pound of sugar for every four quarts of fruit and "they may can as much as the family needs."

For jams, jellies, and fruit butters, women may obtain an additional allotment of one pound for each person in the home, it was said. Housewives must keep a record of the fruit packed with rationed sugar.

Berries of all kinds, cherries, and grapes will be plentiful in the Mansfield area, but the peach and apple crops probably will be small, it was predicted by the state department of agriculture. The peach crop is hardest hit in Ohio, with the 1942 crop estimated at 700,000 bushels, about half that of last year.

Meanwhile, government experts explained today that the supply on hand in the United States is below normal despite bulging warehouses in certain areas.

The nation's sugar stockpile was estimated at slightly below 1,883,000 tons, a little below the average for this date during the past six years. Normal annual sugar consumption in the country is 7,000,000 tons.

The transportation problem has resulted in heavy stock piling up along the Gulf coast and in the far West, it was said. Despite ship sinkings, sugar has been coming into the country at a fair rate, experts said. They added, however, that sugar once shipped by water from the Gulf coast and the West to eastern cities now must be transported by rail, further burdening the country's overworked railroads.

CONTROLS FOOD

Japan Takes Over Staples Berlin Reports.

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts)—(AP)—Japan has decreed government control of the nation's staple foodstuffs with regulations providing for government purchase and distribution of rice and other grains, DNB reported today in a dispatch from Tokyo.

New decrees issued by the ministry of agriculture and forestry, effective July 1, "practically complete the government's program for a long war, lasting until the enemy countries have been forced to their knees," the dispatch said.

(This move—not yet reported directly from Tokyo—may indicate difficulties of food supply. The 1941 crops are known to have been subnormal although Japan has not permitted any indication of 1942 crop prospects to reach the outside.)

WORK OVERTIME

Penitentiary Inmates Work at Night to Aid War Effort.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Ohio penitentiary has responded to wartime demands by going on an overtime shift in the mills. Prisoners have been working at night to increase production of prison-made materials for state institutions and thereby eliminating the need of buying the materials in the war drained market.

Robert R. Bangham, state welfare department manager of manufacturing and sales, said today that more than 750 prisoners are working overtime in prison cotton, knitting and woolen mills.

ADD $1,500,000 TO TAX VALUES

Appraisers Say New Homes, Buildings To Increase Revenue By $20,000.

New building in Richland county during the past year, largely in the Mansfield area, will add approximately $1,500,000 to the county's tax duplicate in 1942 and should produce at least $20,000 more in real estate tax revenue, County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said today.

The new valuations, representing hundreds of homes constructed in Mansfield and suburban districts in recent months, will boost the county's total taxable property value to $100,000,000, highest since the late 1920's, the auditor said.

Actual building values probably are at a record figure now, but other property now taxed separately formerly was included in the real estate classification, according to the auditor.

Appraisers and deputies in the auditor's department have been busy for several weeks checking new homes and business and industrial building in the county so that it can be added to the tax duplicate.

War priorities virtually stalled new building operations in May, Wolfe said, and he added that it probably will be several years before new construction here reaches the pace of late 1941 and early 1942.

At Mansfield's 16-mill tax rate, the $1,500,000 increase in valuations would produce $24,000 in additional taxes, but the auditor pointed out that rates vary throughout the county and the average increase probably will be "something more than $20,000."

Urges City, County to Speed Up Scrap Rubber Collection

Mansfield and Richland county residents were urged today by C. L. Hartenfels, county scrap rubber collection chairman, to redouble their efforts in the rubber drive during the remainder of this week.

All items containing scrap rubber, regardless of size or amount, should be turned in at filling stations, Hartenfels said. If desired, the person turning in the scrap will receive a penny a pound. Most persons are accepting payment, while some others are contributing their scrap rubber outright.

Hartenfels reported that total scrap turned in yesterday at filling stations in and near Mansfield totalled 32,385 pounds, bringing the total collected to date to 155,248 pounds. This does not include more than 20,000 pounds collected in Shelby, nor large amounts collected elsewhere in the county.

Residents of rural areas not accessible to filing stations should notify their township trustees, Hartenfels pointed out. Arrangements then will be made for county trucks to pick up scrap rubber.

APPROVES BILL

House Committee Ends Work on War Tax Measure.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—The house ways and means committee closes its book today on the new war tax bill after voting excess profits refunds to corporations after the war. The refund, in effect, reduces the eventual profits rate from 94 to 80 per cent.

The committee expects to turn the bill over to drafters today. The bill is expected to reach the house early in July.

Late yesterday the committee settled the remaining major question before it—post-war corporation refunds on excess profits. The refund voted will accumulate at the rate of $940,000,000 a year and will be credited to some 36,000 corporations.

Here Are Questions, Answers On 'Service' Price Ceilings

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The cost of shoe shines, automobile repairs, piano tuning, funerals and all other consumer services will be limited beginning July 1 to the highest levels charged in March.

The Office of Price Administration issued price ceiling regulations last night that will affect 1,000,000 establishments doing an annual business of $5,000,000,000 throughout the country. It supplements the price control order of April 28 covering consumer goods.

Exempted from the new regulations were professional services, such as those performed by physicians, dentists, lawyers and barbers.

The following questions and answers explain the scope of the new order:

Q. What is a consumer service?

A. A consumer service under the regulation is a service rendered in connection with a commodity for the ultimate consumer such as the housewife, the motorist or the farmer.

Q. What are examples of consumer services?

A. Laundry, dry-cleaning and shoe repair are some of the most common services performed for consumers. Others are the lubrication or repair of a private passenger car, the repair and servicing of home radio sets and electrical appliances, and the sharpening of household knives and scissors.

Q. Is the charge made by a parking lot covered by the regulation?

A. Yes, an automobile is a com-

'HONEYMOON'S OVER'

Report Says Time Has Come For Contractors To Quit Mooching on Taxpayers.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — A sharply-split house military committee was put on record by its chairman today as determined to continue an investigation which it reported already had revealed "a sordid picture" of extravagant waste in war department contracts.

Whether the investigation would continue to be conducted by three sub-committees remained to be seen, but Chairman May (D-Ky) intimated he was considering consolidating the inquiry into a single unit.

His intimations followed disclosure that a minority report would be filed soon by Representative Thomason (D-Tex), chairman of one of the subcommittees.

The minority report, members who planned to sign it said, would not disagree so much with the committee's findings as made public in a lengthy report filed yesterday, as with the manner in which it was considered.

Approved at a session marked by sharp clashes between May and Thomason, the majority report made these recommendations:

That war agencies eliminate "topheavy organization" and "endless red tape;" that the war department tighten its supervision over accounting and auditing, strengthen its contract policies, enforce prohibitions against the payment of excessive commissions on cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contracts, readjust management fees, and require employes of contractors retained in connection with the procurement of contracts to file monthly expense and compensation statements.

"The time has come," the report said, "when the contractors' honeymoon at the expense of the taxpayers of the nation must end."

The report cited instances of what it called "extravagant waste" of public money and a "tragic waste of copper" and asserted that George Remus, whom it described as a "once notorious

FDR SIGNS

Approves Measure Deferring Family Men From Draft.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—President Roosevelt today signed a precedent-making bill authorizing deferment of family men until the reservoir of single men is exhausted and providing financial aid for dependents of service men in the four lowest ranks.

The allowances to dependents vary with the degree of family relationship, providing $50 a month for a wife with no children, $62 for a wife with one child, and $72 for a wife and two children. Of this $22 comes out of the serviceman's pay check, and the balance is contributed by the government.

For the first time in army history, the policy of preserving established families in connection with military service is authorized by law. Previously, deferment of men with dependents was based solely on financial grounds.

Artillery Hits British Lines During Night

BULLETIN

CAIRO—(INS)—Reconnaissance activity by British planes today led to discovery of a daring plan by German Field Marshal Erwin Rommel to by-pass Fort Capuzzo and Halfaya Pass and launch his anticipated invasion of Egypt by a savage thrust through the southern desert. General Sir Claude Auchinleck's headquarters were believed fully prepared to resist and repel any such movement.

(By Associated Press)

A violent all-night bombardment by Axis artillery indicated that the battle of Egypt may already have started today as the British reported that "very strong" enemy columns of tanks and motorized infantry were racing along the coast toward the Egyptian-Libyan frontier.

While definite word was lacking that Field Marshal Erwin Rommel had launched his big offensive, military observers pointed out that a heavy artillery barrage usually signals an imminent land attack.

Throughout the night, dispatches said, big Axis field guns shelled the British defense lines and enemy patrols stabbed repeatedly for "soft spots."

Dispatches from Cairo, headquarters of Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck's imperial command, said Axis armored forces were swinging southward on the Libyan side of the frontier, apparently intending to strike into Egypt many miles below the Mediterranean coast in the hope of outflanking the British.

Light German-Italian forces engaged the British west of Salum, in the coastal area, in an evident attempt to mask Rommel's flanking scheme.

It was expected that Rommel would launch his main blow around Fort Maddalena, 50 miles southwest of Salum, and Bir El Shegga, 20 miles farther south.

"Much enemy movement was observed southward from Gambut," British imperial headquarters said.

Gambut lies 45 miles west of the Egyptian border.

A Cairo communique said British mobile columns roved the desert west of the main British lines yesterday and engaged small Axis forces beyond Salum, Egyptian border port.

An Italian war bulletin, claiming the seizure of 33,000 prisoners in the fall of Tobruk, reported tersely:

"There has been local activity of our advanced elements on the Egyptian-Libyan frontier."

The British said Axis armored forces moving up along the Mediterranean coast were relatively fresh, since they had not been engaged in the fierce assault on Tobruk, and said Rommel's big

GLOOM: Navy Reveals Loss of 13 Ships, 48 Lives In 12 Days

BULLETIN

A GULF PORT—(INS)—An Axis submarine, which never rose to the surface, torpedoed and sank a small Yugoslavian freighter almost within sight of this port shortly before dawn June 19, the navy department announced today.

(By Associated Press)

Wholesale death and destruction the like of which the Spanish Main never saw in pirate days was wrought by enemy submarines which over a 12-day period sent 13 United Nations merchantmen to the bottom of the Caribbean.

This was disclosed by the navy yesterday on the blackest day of its announcements of ship sinkings since the war began, and with the announced loss of two more vessels in the Atlantic swelled to 309 the war total of western Atlantic area sinkings.

Casualties ran high, with 48 known dead and 87 missing in the Caribbean sinkings occurring between June 3 and 14; three dead and 85 missing in the June 15 sinking of a medium-isized U. S. merchant vessel off the New England coast and five dead in the torpedoing of a British freighter the same day in the same area.

The Caribbean victims were five U. S. ships, two medium-sized and three small; five British merchantmen, four medium and one small, and one Honduran, one Norwegian and one Dutch vessel, all small.

Six hundred thirty-five survivors, including 126 passengers, related tales of suffering and heroism on being landed at a Caribbean port; told of encoun-

THRUST: Chinese Armies Take Jap Outposts Near Vital Base

BULLETIN

CHUNGKING—(AP)—The Chinese command announced tonight that its armies in Kiangsi province had recaptured Kweikl, thus pushing back the western claw of the Japanese pincer which had come within 50 miles of closing in on the strategic Chekiang-Kiangsi railway.

(By Associated Press)

Chinese dispatches reported today that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's armies had captured two outposts of Japanese-held Kwangfeng, killed or wounded 4,000 Japanese, and now "directly menaced" Kwangfeng itself.

Kwangfeng is an important base supplying Japanese columns driving westward into Kiangsi province, in eastern China.

The Chinese said the attack on Kwangfeng was part of a maneuver to cut off the Japanese army which is attempting to complete its conquest of the important Chekiang-Kiangsi railway leading into central China. Only a 50-mile stretch remains in Chinese hands.

Japanese dispatches said that a strong new Japanese offensive was developing in Chekiang province, and that Lishui, "the last airport still in enemy hands in the province," was almost destroyed by aerial assault yesterday.

Domei said Japanese troops "storming deep into the mountain fastnesses south of Wuyi and braving torrential rains" were making steady progress.

Wuyi is 28 miles southeast of push toward Egypt and the Suez canal was expected to start when these reinforcements had reached the forward zone.

Dispatches hinted that British warships were maneuvering off the coast, preparing to turn their devastating fire on the Axis invasion armies.

While the British faced a grim new test, their Russian allies fought off a series of attacks in the bloody 20-day-old battle for Sevastopol, in the Crimea, and fell back before the assault of Field Marshal Gen. Fedor von Bock's forces on the Kharkov front.

Red army headquarters said Russian infantry, marines and sailors battled the Germans throughout the night around Sevastopol, and announced:

"Our units repelled fierce attacks of superior enemy forces."

The situation remained grave, but the Russians said they had closed gaps torn in the defense system of the great Black sea naval base and declared the Germans were suffering heavy casualties.

On the Kharkov front, 400 miles north of Sevastopol, the Red army acknowledged that "our troops were pressed back to new positions."

Von Bock's offensive was apparently striking again in the two armies battled indecisively to miles below Kharkov, where the parliament's reaction was "more exhaustion last month.

A Soviet communique said German motorized infantry, supported by tanks, attacked a Russian settlement and "in a fierce engagement we destroyed 13 enemy tanks—the enemy suffered heavy losses in men."

Hitler's field headquarters asserted that Axis troops had "annihilated" remnants of Soviet forces still resisting on the extreme tip of an isthmus north of Sewernaja bay, across from Sevastopol city, and listed 11,000 prisoners taken from June 7 to June 22.

The Nazi command pictured German warplanes as blasting incessantly at Russian field and artillery positions while Axis shock troops stormed concrete bunkers, earthworks and other fortifications.

In aerial warfare, bad weather kept the RAF's big bombers aground while Nazi raiders executed a small-scale attack on East Anglia, the section of England nearest to Holland, where the British army recently took over a 36-mile training area.

A communique said the Germans inflicted "neither damage nor casualties."

Meanwhile, London newspapers predicted that Prime Minister Churchill's return from the United States would be marked by the bitterest criticism of his career but that he would retain firm control of the government.

"This is the most serious personal issue Mr. Churchill has faced since becoming prime minister," the London Mirror said, in the wake of yesterday's angry complaints in parliament over British war leadership.

"It will undoubtedly mean the heaviest adverse vote the government has had to face."

The Yorkshire Post declared Izyum-Barvenkova sector, 80 serious than after the fall of Singapore," while the Daily Mail said "the government is faced with all the possibilities of a serious political revolt."

But stung as they were by the swift disaster in Libya, Britons generally were agreed they had only one possible leader: pudgy, indomitable Winston Churchill.

In sea warfare, the German high command asserted that Nazi U-boats preying on Atlantic convoys and operating "in strongly protected North and Central American coastal waters" had sunk 20 more United States and British merchantmen totalling 102,000 tons.

The period covered by the sinkings was not disclosed.

CROP INSURANCE COST REDUCED

Wickard Announces Plan To Cut Premiums Where Loss Is Light.

WASHINGTON—(INS)— Secretary of Agriculture Wickard today announced a reduced cost plan by the Federal Crop Insurance corporation for wheat growers who have built up large premium balances in excess of losses.

LeRoy K. Smith, corporation manager, said that "in some cases, this reduction plan will cut an individual's 1943 crop insurance premiums as much as 50 per cent, the maximum allowed."

In general if the farmer's total paid in premiums, less indemnities, equals or exceeds his insured production for 1943, the farmer will receive a 50 per cent cut in his premium.

Ohio Plant Site Cost Called 'Excessive'

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The house military affairs committee reported that "excessive" prices were paid for land on which two Ohio munitions plants were constructed.

Reviewing investigations of a subcommittee into acquisition of sites for ordnance plants, including those at Ravenna and Sandusky, O., the committee asserted yesterday that "where there can be no well-founded criticisms of the results obtained by the war department in securing land there has been much criticism of the methods used."

"Important progress" has been made in the standardization and improvement of land acquisition procedure, the committee report stated.

Brokers were engaged to negotiate land sales and condemnation proceedings were shunned at the beginning of the war effort, the committee declared, with the result that "the only way in which all land in a given area could be acquired voluntarily was to pay, in the long run, whatever prices were asked, and experience indicated that these were so unreasonable as to be completed out of the question."

The summary of the subcommittee's investigation included:

Plum Brook ordnance plant, Sandusky — "Excessive" price of approximately $2,200,000 paid for land but there was "no evidence of collusion or third party participation." Considerable delay in construction "owing to lack of coordination between the offices of the contractor and the architect-engineer, and the lack of independent designing, planning and constructing."

ers predicted he would spike them both by challenging his critics to oust him.

They expected him to use the same tactics he employed in the challenge to his leadership after Singapore—introduce his own motion of confidence in his government in defiance of the opposition.

The show-down was believed to be not far off since Dominions Secretary Clement R. Attlee, Churchill's deputy in the house, said yesterday that the prime minister, now in the United States, was "fully aware" that he was wanted urgently at home.

Besides the motion of non-confidence in the war leadership offered yesterday, with the supposed backing of such influential members as Leslie Hore-Belisha, David Lloyd George, Earl Winterton and Arthur Greenwood, another motion today demanded "complete reconstruction of the government" on a merit basis.

It was prepared by W. J. Brown and Capt. Alec Cunningham-Reid, who recently formed a small independent coalition in the house. They were believed, however, to lack the necessary strength to push their motion to a vote.

Report Accord On 'Invasion Shipping'

WASHINGTON —(INS)— President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill today are believed to have drafted a tentative plan for making available before the end of this year sufficient shipping to transport and supply an Anglo-American expeditionary force in Europe.

The plan is reported in diplomatic circles to be dependent upon the following developments:

1. Ability of the American navy to overcome by mid-summer the Axis submarine campaign on this side of the Atlantic;

2. Increased production of American shipping, including new types;

3. Drastic curtailment of the use of United Nations shipping for anything but actual war supplies;

4. Stabilization of the British position along the Egyptian border to prevent the Axis forces of German General Erwin Rommel from dashing through to the Suez canal.

If these conditions develop according to plans and other circumstances are favorable, it is hoped that it will be possible to pool sufficient shipping by the end of the summer to transport and supply an Anglo-American expeditionary force in Europe.

The question of when and where an attempt should be made to have American and British troops come to grips with the German army on the European continent is said to depend on other factors besides that of shipping.

Navy Reveals Casualties Since Start of War.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The announced total of the dead, wounded and missing of the navy since the war started stood at more than 10,000 today with release of casualty list number 5 containing names of 98 recorded as dead, eight as wounded and 2,101 missing

In addition the army has reported 796 deaths in battle and the wounding of 930 American soldiers.

The new navy list covered casualties reported to next of kin between May 11 and June 6, covering the navy, marine corps and coast guard It noted that many of those listed as missing were serving in the Manila bay area when it capitulated to the Japanese and "likely are prisoners of war." There were no names on the list from this area.

Greet Son Home From Coral Sea

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Matthes are shown above as they greeted their sailor-son Robert, who was aboard a heavy cruiser which participated in the Coral Sea engagement and in the earlier attack on the Marshall and Gilbert Islands. Robert, a fireman first class, will spend six days at home.

MANSFIELDER HOME FOR VISIT AFTER PACIFIC SEA BATTLES

Another youth from the Mansfield area who was a member of Uncle Sam's naval forces at the battle of the Coral sea came home last night.

He is Robert Matthes, 20-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Matthes, of Pulver-List road. A graduate of Madison high school, where he played football and basketball for three years, he has been in the navy since Dec. 11, 1940.

Now a first class fireman, Matthes is stationed aboard a heavy cruiser which took part in the Coral sea engagement, and—four months ago—in the attack on the Marshall and Gilbert islands.

That first battle, said Matthes, was "a honey." As to the Coral sea battle, he had little to add to the stories which have been brought home by two Mansfield area youths—Walter Clark and Walter F. Duncan, who were stationed on the aircraft carrier Lexington.

Since he is a fireman, Matthes was in the cruiser's fire room throughout most of the battle, except for a brief time on deck when he was able to see the smoke and flames from the Lexington 30 miles away. The cruiser on which he is stationed was part of the task force protecting the other United States carriers which participated in the engagement.

As to Japanese losses, Matthes expressed the conviction that U. S. navy statements on enemy sinkings have been "very conservative" And as for the portion of the enemy fleet which got away, Matthes grinned as he added: "We'll get 'em."

His vessel arrived at San Diego a week ago, and Matthes was given a 14-day furlough. Taking out time for travel, he'll have six days at home.

His parents, his brother, Dick, 21, his grandparents, and other relatives made up a large welcoming party which greeted him as he stepped off the Trail-Blazer at Union terminal last night for his first visit home in a year.

Urges City, County to Speed Up Scrap Rubber Collection

Three of thees trucks were making the collection in the northern part of the county today.

The figure reported by Hartenfels does not include a collection of 700 tires, weighing more than 11 000 pounds, which was turned over to Cities Service and Pure Oil stations by Philip Goettl, proprietor of My Tire Store at 274 North Mulberry.

A suggestion contained in a recent "Washington Merry-Go-Round" column in The News-Journal was being carried out by some Mansfielders, filling station operators reported. This idea was for motorists to turn in the rubber mat in the rear trunk of their automobiles The only purpose served by this mat, protecting suitcases from scuffing, would be accomplished just as well by an old piece of carpet, it was pointed out.

Mansfeild children today were rounding up scrap rubber articles with which they will pay their way into a special show at the Madison theater at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow. One scrap rubber article will serve as admission ticket for any child.

The program will include "Kid Galahad," as feature production, two cartoons, a comedy, and a news reel. Operators, stagehands, and ushers are donating their services. Proceeds from the sale of the rubber collected will be turned over to the USO.

WAR WORKERS THUMB RIDES

Judge Suspends Licenses of Careless Drivers.

CLEVELAND—(INS)—Several young war workers rode street cars and buses today or used the "thumb system" because their careless driving, according to Common Pleas Judge Joseph H. Silbert, "is a direct contradiction to the war effort."

Declaring that even though they are qualified to buy new cars and tires and "even though they work in defense plants, they will not be allowed to violate the laws and ignore appeals for conservation," Silbert raised fines for speeders from $5 to $10 in aggravated cases and took away the violators' driving licenses for from 10 to 30 days.

JUDGE SUCCUMBS

TOLEDO—(AP)—Scott Stahl, 75, a judge of the Lucas county common pleas court, died early today in St. Vincent's hospital of a heart ailment.

HERE'S DATA ON PRICE CEILINGS

Questions, Answers Tell How Ruling Affects Cost of Services.

modity and the storage of a commodity is therefore under the price ceiling.

Q. What are the maximum prices on consumer services?

A. The highest prices which the supplier of the service charged in March 1942.

Q. Are prices on services standardized by this regulation?

A. No, the regulation simply places a ceiling for each establishment at the highest price it charged for a service in March, 1942. But ceiling prices will vary from shop to shop just as uncontrolled prices varied in March.

Q. May prices be charged below the ceiling?

A. Yes, the regulation does no more than place a top limit beyond which prices cannot go.

Q. Some members of a chain of shoe-repair shop's during March made a special rate of 75 cents for half-soling men's shoes. Other members of the chain held to the customary price of $1.00. What is the ceiling price in these establishments?

A. The ceiling price has nothing to do with the ownership of the store or service business. For any stores which cut the price to 75 cents during the entire month the ceiling is 75 cents. For those which sold as high as $1.00 the ceiling is $1.00.

Q. Does it put a ceiling on charges for such personal services as haircuts and manicures?

A. No, the definition of "service" in the consumer service price regulation is limited to those rendered in connection with a commodity.

Q. Are there any other services which are not covered by the regulation?

A. Yes, in addition a list is incorporated which specifically excludes a variety of other services including professional services.

Q. What control is there over the price if the service establishment did not charge a flat price for a consumer service?

A. In this instance the ceiling is determined by the pricing method rates and charges adopted in March 1942.

Q. Is any provision made to take care of cases of substantial hardship?

A. Yes, the Office of Price Administration has set up machinery by which a person may apply for relief.

Q. Does not the consumer service establishment have to make some list or report of its ceiling prices?

A. Yes, every affected service must prepare by September 1, a complete list of the highest prices he charged for all service he supplied during March for which prices were regularly quoted in that month. This report must also show any pricing method regularly used in March, and all customary allowances and discounts Such ceiling price lists need not be posted.

BOOSTS RATES

WASHINGTON —(INS)— The house ways and means committee today agreed to raise postal rates for third class mail sufficiently to offset a $26,000,000 annual loss in handling such mail. Third class mail, in large part, consists of advertising circulars.

The committee also decided to raise the tax on sensitized photographic paper and unexposed film from 10 per cent to 15 per cent of the manufacturer's sale price.

WANT SON BACK

Parents Start Habeas Corpus Action To Get Child.

LIMA — (INS) — Allen county courts today considered habeas corpus proceedings filed by Mr. and Mrs. Reichelderfer to regain custody of their six-year-old son.

They assert they placed the boy in the temporary custody of Mr. and Mrs. John Shallenbarger shortly after his birth and that now the Shallenbargers refuse to give him up.

In the meantime, Chungking dispatches said China's need for more planes and big guns in anticipation of a full-scale clash with the Japanese was believed to have been stressed in recent talks of Chinese Foreign Minister Dr. T. V. Soong with President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill in the United States.

Observers in the Chinese wartime capital said indications were increasing that China's rich Hunan province, an important breadbasket for Gen. Chiang's armies, might become the scene of a major Chinese-Japanese test of power.

While the heaviest fighting now rages in Kiangsi and Chekiang provinces, in the east, the Chinese were said to regard Hunan as a more favorable battlefield because the Japanese communication lines would be stretched thinner.

Jap Fighter Plane Downed Over Timor

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA—(INS)—General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced today that a Japanese fighter plane was shot down over the occupied Dutch island of Timor when it attempted to intercept United Nations fliers on a reconnaissance flight.

An unsuccessful attempt was made by seven Japanese zero fighters to intercept another reconnaissance unit over Rabaul, New Britain.

CONFER TODAY ON FAIR PLANS

Representatives of Ohio Managers Meet With Eastman.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Representatives of the Ohio Fair Managers association went to Washington today for a conference which probably will determine whether the state's county and independent fairs will operate as usual this year.

Ralph C. Haines, of Dayton, president of the association and former Governor Myers Y. Cooper, of Cincinnati, will confer with Joseph Eastman, federal war transportation chief. Eastman asked last week that county fairs be abandoned for the duration in order to relieve the strain on the nation's transportation facilities.

The June 15 sinking of the American ship 75 miles off the New England coast was one of the war's worst torpedo disasters to a U. S. merchantman, with more persons lost than rescued.

The three dead were U. S. soldiers, while 15 other American soldiers were among the 85 missing. Eighty-one survivors, including 23 more soldiers, brought to an east coast port by vessels which were nearby when their ship sank, said:

WOODEN TIRES PROVE SUCCESS ON MILK TRUCK

Creamery Officials Report They Make Less Noise Than Steel Tires.

(By United Press)

CHICAGO — Wooden tires for automobiles and trucks that may provide a partial answer to the rubber shortage are in use on milk wagons of the Beatrice Creamery company, its president, C. H. Hashell, announced.

Looking ahead to the day when no rubber tires are available, the company decided to experiment with a switch to horse drawn wagons equipped with wooden tires. The idea originated in a purchasing department conference.

Hashell said the experiment was a complete success. The wooden tires are expected to last about a year, or 8,000 to 10,000 miles of service.

The present cost is $20 per wheel but this can be reduced by mass production to $12 to $15.

Drivers of milk wagons using the wooden tires on an experimental basis report they do not make nearly as much noise as a steel tire on the old fashioned milk wagon.

There haven't been any complaints about the wooden tires, except that they cause a little more vibration than rubber ones.

Hashell says they are not nearly as comfortable riding, but the American trucker and motorist can't be too particular when the rubber runs out.

The wooden tired wagon is easier for the horse to pull than a rubber tired vehicle.

The tire consists of a series of V-shaped oak blocks. The bottom of the block is cut into a narrow wedge that fits the rim channel of an ordinary auto wheel.

There are 40 blocks to a tire. Each is the same size as the tire on an old model Ford or Chevrolet. The blocks are bolted together through the rim of the wheel and are ready for mounting the same as a rubber tired wheel.

These wooden blocks are soaked in hot linseed oil and paraffin for 16 hours and white lead fills the cracks between the blocks when they are mounted. The oil and paraffin are used to preserve the wood and waterproof it to cut the danger of splitting and cracking.

If compelled to go to wooden wheels, the switch back to rubber can be made easily, without damage to the wheel. Experiments also are being made with maple blocks which may lessen the danger of splitting.

Deadly Machete Receives High Priority Rating

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The machete, deadly tropical American weapon, has received a high priority rating, the War Production Board recently announced.

The weapon, similar to the American cutlass, is commonly used in tropical countries for clearing land, cultivating and harvesting sugar and other major crops. Agricultural experts have maintained it is indispensible to tropical economy.

The priority rating, which enables manufacturers to obtain the necessary steel, was in effect until June 1. However, exporters believe that some long range plan may be worked out after that to assure shipments to Latin America in accordance with the Good Neighbor program.

At present the big knives are sold by only one firm located in Connecticut. This company ships several thousand machetes to Mexico, Cuba, Brazil, Columbia, Venezuela, and other markets in the Western Hemisphere annually.

COLLEGE LANGUAGE COURSES GROOM STUDENTS FOR WAR WORK

(By International News Service)

MIDDLEBURY, Vt.—Substituting for residence and travel broad for the duration are the modern laguage schools of Middlebury college—with their separate residence, dining halls and facilities of native instructors in French, German, Italian and Spanish.

The language being studied is the sale medium of communication in the residence.

Although the language courses were primarily intended for instruction of language teachers, this year for the first time in the 25-year history of the schools, plans are underway for the development of linguists for specialized war work as translators, foreign language broadcasters, interpreters, censors and for commercial and diplomatic posts in Mexico and South America. All political discussions are banned and studies are confined to cultural values of each country's civilization.

Appointments of four distinguished scholars to the school staffs was announced by college authorities. These were:

M. Andre Mayer, outstanding French chemist and biologist, who is to give a course in the interpretation of scientific thought in France since the rennaissance, and its influence upon the intellectual, political, and spiritual life of the nation.

Enrique Diez-Canedo, visiting professor of the Spanish school is coming to Vermont from the Colegio of Mexico. He is a former Spanish ambassador to the Republic of Uruguay and Argentina.

Wolfgang Stechow, concert pianist and professor of the fine arts at Oberlin college since 1940, is giving a series of lectures on "Hausmusik" from Bach and Brahms at the German school in Bristol, Vt.

Dr. Domenico Vitterini, associate professor of romance languages and literature at the University of Pennsylvania, is visiting professor at the Italian school. He teaches advanced composition and a course on "Realism in the Italian Rennaissance."

Fateful Days for United Nations

LITTLE as may become known about the conversations of Winston Churchill, President Roosevelt, and their trusted advisers, it cannot be doubted that momentous decisions are now being made that will vitally affect the military policies and procedure of the United Nations from now on.

Coming in the midst of Axis successes which disclosed unanticipated enemy strength in manpower and equipment, these conferences are fortunately freed from the excessive optimism that had for a time prevailed in this country and hints of which were seen in Great Britain's attitude toward the war effort.

There is a very natural public curiosity about what is being said, and what will be done when Prime Minister Churchill returns to London, but all of this is a legitimate "military secret" and the public duty is confidence and patience. In due time, events will reveal the conclusions reached.

The importance of United Nations decisions and action at this stage of the war is immense. Never in human history, perhaps, have greater issues been at stake. Never was the fate of so many people involved. Devout citizens, and even those not devout, may well pray for light and wisdom in those conferences. Be the individual statesmen themselves great or small, momentous decisions must be made and tremendous powers must be used by them.

Half the free world is represented in the present Washington talks, and another third of it was recently represented there in the person of Molotov, speaking for Stalin of Russia. The fourth big unit of free allies is represented by President Chiang Kai-shek of China, who is doubtless in close touch with White House proceedings.

History is being made in Washington these days—history that will affect the peoples of the world for many generations if it can be translated into the victory toward which it is intended to point the way.

More Remodeling of Old Homes

FIXING up the old house to be a still better shelter and workshop in the days to come is a popular activity. One of the best forms of protection against the bitter blasts of winter is insulation. The non-burnable material that is blown into the walls saves fuel not only the first year, but all the years thereafter, so its cost, spread over a number of years, is not very great. It insulates against the heat of summer, too.

There are more ways than one of weather-conditioning. A layer of shingles laid over an old-fashioned single-construction siding wall helps considerably. They may be of wood or of some modern composite. Storm windows help, too, but ventilation must be watched if no air leaks in at window sashes. Dead air will not heat properly. Air must circulate and stay alive to keep the family well.

Any sort of remodeling that can be undertaken now is good to do. It must not be too expensive, nor interfere with war materials or labor needed for war work. But when little new building is going on, the old needs more care and repair than usual.

Another Tax-Paying Time Is Here

PROMPT start-off of real estate tax payments by Mansfield and Richland county property owners, as reported by the county treasurer's office, indicates that more people are adopting the policy of estimating their annual tax requirements and establishing a reserve out of which to pay their various tax bills, instead of waiting until almost the final date for payment without penalty, and then scurrying around trying to dig up the tax money.

The tax payment now due is for the second half of 1941 and payment may be made at any time between now and August 20—but the feeling of satisfaction gained by having this chore out of the way influences a number of people to pay as soon as they can.

Where Service Is a Habit

ANY PERSON who assumes he is doing a gasoline station a favor when he pulls in and dumps a load of old rubber is 100 per cent wrong. The favor runs the other way. The generous donor is only making more trouble for a brand of business that was already having plenty of grief, with the current loss of sales from less driving, and with loss of helpers through the army draft.

Gasoline dealers accepted this rubber collection job, just as they have accepted a lot of other public or semi-public services that don't pay them anything, because that's the kind of business it is and that's the kind of people who run it. Does the average American really appreciate the services rendered regularly by the vast army of men operating gasoline stations throughout this country? There is nothing like it anywhere else in the world. The institution they have built up is maintained at a high level, although now operating under obvious difficulties.

'Cannibal Islands' Lose Romance

AN ODD conclusion might be reached after reading a recent news story. It might appear that there are no longer any "savages"—except in "civilized" countries.

Stanley Johnston, foreign correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, tells of the "reformed and benevolent cannibals" of the South Pacific, who speak English and co-operate cheerfully with American airmen lost in those regions.

In one case flyers, forced down, landed on a notorious cannibal island, and were greeted by ferocious-looking natives wearing bone ornaments in their ears and noses and flourishing spears and stone axes. The flyers naturally expected to have to fight for their lives. They were flabbergasted when the chief shouted "Hello, airmen!" and promptly produced an air chart to show them where they were.

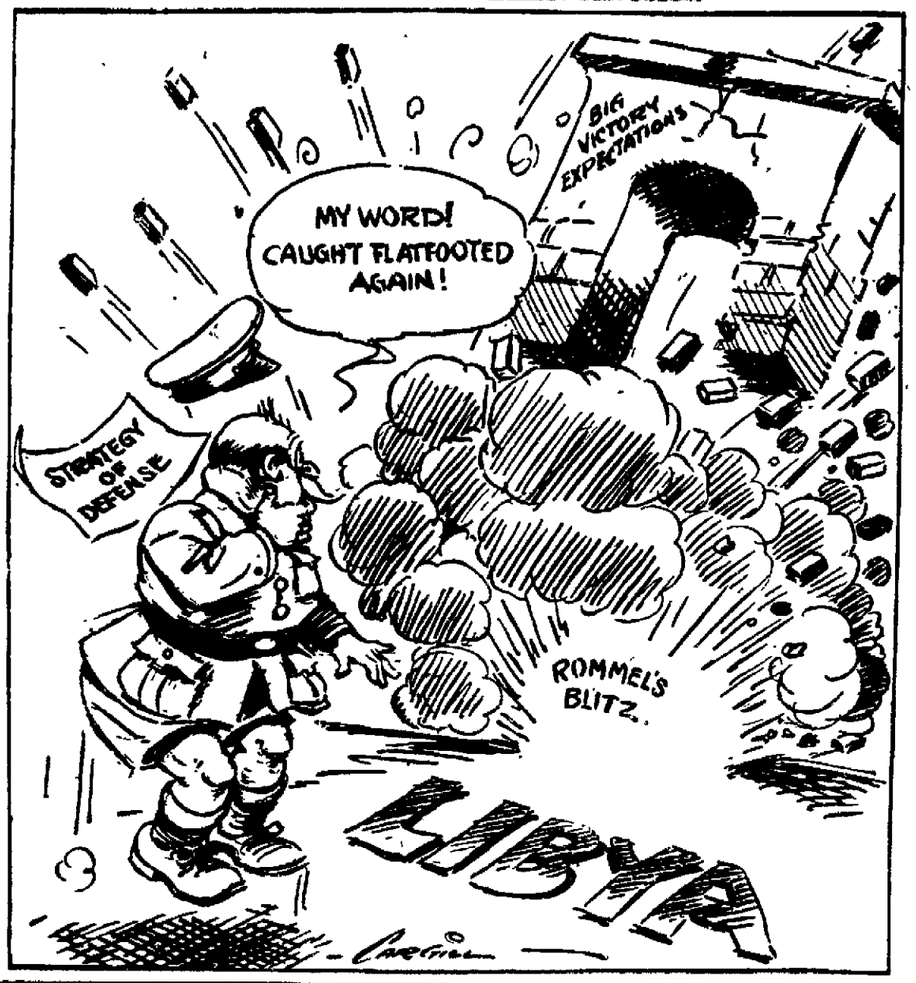
It's too bad to lose the romance, but there are obvious compensations.

Some folks in this country seem to think they are making "sacrifices" when they give up things that most people in the world never had.

It is becoming increasingly difficult to determine which member of the family "wears the pants."

Uncle Sam is the modern Hercules, with most of his dozen labors still to do.

BAD CASE OF FALLEN ARCHES



FBI Thinks Gestapo Very Stupid

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

LIKE all other civilian folk, members of Director J. Edgar Hoover's justice department Federal Bureau of Investigation are inexpressibly shocked by Herr Hitler's gestapo's indiscriminate massacres, in Germanly conquered areas and even in the Reich itself, in retaliation for acts of violence against Nazi functionaries in their various midsts, such as the assassination of Hangman Reinhard Heydrich in Czechoslovakia.

J. Edgar Hoover

What professionally disgusts FBI spokesmen, however, is the obvious inability of the gestapo agents, expert detectives as they call themselves, to catch the actual, perpetrators of the killings they're supposed to prevent but don't succeed in putting a stop to.

The idea is that the FBI not only regards the German secret service as a gang of unmitigated wholesale murderers; it also despises 'em as utterly incompetent snoopers.

It hates the gestapo as much as anybody else does.

Nevertheless, FBI operatives recognize that, if a staff of "tecs" is assigned to protect Nazi officialdom, it's up to that staff to PROTECT 'em, or, if it fails occasionally, to catch and punish the authors of what they consider an anti-Nazi outrage, now and again.

U. S. Justice.

For instance, we have here a few Axis representatives, who have to be kept in suppression. But we don't attend to 'em without trials. Before being so much as pinched, they have to be detectivized intensively. Nobody's penalized until he's had something pinned on him conclusively. He has to be convicted as regularly as a burglar.

But suppose that some Reich-dominated community is suspected of having a handful of anti-Nazis in its makeup, but the gestapo can't spot the exact individuals. In such a situation the gestapo's system is to wipe out the whole community, to make sure that no bet's being overlooked in the process.

The FBI considers this method unscientific, as well as inhuman.

The FBI boys are detectives—very classy ones, but, in principle, just like any other detective corps, here or elsewhere.

Now, the average town is afflicted by some criminals who ought to be caught—stickup men and various assorted outlaws. The local "tecs" are anxious to get 'em. They don't advocate arresting EVERYBODY, though, with no exceptions.

The gestapo does—and not alone ARRESTING everybody, but killing everybody who's arrested, and without a trial, either. True, there is a certain consistency in killing 'em all without trial, for trials might result in 10 or 15 per cent of acquittals.

Its judgment is that, in addition to being plain homicidal, its crew are hamfats as detectives.

Its theory is that, if the gestapo wants to stop the assassination of Nazis (provided the bumping off of a chap like Hangman Heydrich can properly be referred to as assassination), the birds who executed him, should be landed. Otherwise, it's a fair assumption that they'll keep it up, or they wouldn't have taken the initial chances.

Reprisal Threats.

Oh, yes, it's argued that an anti-Nazi, even if he gets away, will be scared by threats of reprisals against friends and relatives that he's left behind him.

It's a fair guess, though, that he'll have tipped these folk off to what's coming. And, anyway, if the gestapo doesn't know who he IS, how's it going to know just what friends and relatives of his to reprise against? They may be caught in the jam, to be sure—but so's ANYBODY liable to be caught in the jam in the midst of an indiscriminate massacre.

Listen World!

Moods Are Luxuries

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

NO, SHE HASN'T taken any first-aid courses. Nor gone to the nutrition classes. Can't even work up any enthusiasm about the blood banks or Red Cross work.

"I'm a victim of moods, Elsie," she says. "This whole war business has gotten me down. I haven't anyone at the front but I feel so depressed that I can't throw myself into the spirit of the thing."

You didn't write that, but you might have. For, though this statement will astonish our temperamental sister, we're all victims of moods.

Ever watch a two-year-old baby in his play pen . . . grabbing up one toy . . . throwing it aside in favor of another . . . picking at the bars . . . finally settling down to a howling temper? That's a Number One demonstration of moods. We're born with them and they remain with us all our lives. I've yet to see a human being, from the huskiest stevedor to the most sensitive artist, who wasn't alternately swayed by fear and frets, pouts and peeves and self-pity.

Such moods are as much a part of all of us as our eyelashes and toenails. Even pups have 'em. In short, they are part of that stupid, selfish jungle inheritance which we must always fight in order to become full-grown men and women. And never have we so needed to fight them as we do now.

For now we are fighting for those things that will enable us to rise above moods . . . the sense of our brothers' need . . . the responsibility of doing our share to give the other fellow freedom and a square deal . . . the desperate urgency to preserve the freedom and self respect which are the bases of civilization.

Hitler and Hirohito and that fat puff-ball Mussolini, they believe in moods. Their own moods. They believe in the right of a selfish, privileged few to live as they wish, regardless of the misery it brings to the human race.

BUT THE AMERICAN WHO INDULGES IN MOODS AT A TIME LIKE THIS AND REFUSES TO CARRY HIS PART OF OUR MUTUAL BURDEN IS A CONTEMPTIBLE SLACKER AND NOTHING ELSE BUT.

There is only one mood in which it is honorable to indulge ourselves now, the mood of consecration to the cause of liberty. That was the mood which inspired the men who made America in the face of endless hardship and danger. That was the mood which gave their women strength to stand behind them as they loaded their muskets and then follow the terrible trail even though it led ever their children's graves.

And the man or the woman who cannot follow that mood today, who chooses to surrender to the urge of his or her own emotions, is neither an American nor fit to share its privileges!

Better Induction Procedure.

We've lost track of how many times the army has changed its system of inducting draftees. There have been periods when a man would quit his job, be a guest of honor at farewell parties and bid the folks goodby and then be sent home from the induction center.

At other times, young men who have understood that they had not a chance of being accepted, have reported for examination and found themselves en route to camp two hours later. Sometimes furloughs have been granted so that new soldiers might clear up their affairs and sometimes it has been difficult, if not impossible, to get time off.

One June 29, a new system will be adopted. Upon being accepted and inducted, the rookie soldier will immediately be given a 14-day leave—no questions asked. Or he can report for duty immediately, if he so desires. The new plan ought to eliminate the embarrassment, inconvenience and confusion that have been too prevalent in the past.—Akron Beacon-Journal.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Willkie Faces a Tough Dilemma In Opposition to Thomas Dewey

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Wendell Willkie is wrestling with the toughest decision of his political life.

He must choose between taking off the gloves and wading bluntly into a powerful Republican office-seeker whose views he detests, or remain silent and permit himself to be elbowed out of party leadership. It is not an easy decision to make.

The GOP leader whom Willkie would have to challenge publicly is Thomas E. Dewey, candidate for governor of New York and aspirant for the White House in 1941. Dewey has been on all sides on the foreign policy issue and recently was quoted as declaring that while he was against "Ham" Fish it was because of his associations and not his isolationist views. It was not until ten days later, after the quotation appeared in an advertisement, that Dewey contended he had been misquoted.

Willkie is publicly opposing the re-election of Fish. But so far he has not publicly thrown down the gauntlet to Dewey, whom he disapproves of privately almost as strongly as he objects to Fish.

Reason is, Willkie believes that to oppose Dewey actively would entail becoming a candidate himself, as there is no other Republican who can possibly stop Dewey. And Willkie sincerely does not want to run for governor.

But close friends, chiefly the young, liberal Republicans who were the backbone of the spectacular campaign which won him the GOP nomination in 1940 over the violent opposition of the machine bosses, are arguing differently with Willkie. They say very frankly that it is not enough for him to be against GOP isolationism; that if he means what he says he must take up the cudgels militantly and fight for his views within the party.

* * *

Popular Hero.

THESE advisers have told Willkie that they and the politicians know he considers Dewey an isolationist, and closely tied up with Herbert Hoover, Alf Landon, Joe Pew and other Old Guard and isolationist party forces. But the great mass of people do not know this, the advisers point out, and won't know it unless Willkie asserts his leadership and tells them so publicly.

Willkie intimates also have told him that the sole basis of his strength is popular support; that the machine politicos always have been against him, and that he can never make his influence felt except by going over their heads as he did in winning the 1940 nomination.

These advisers are strongly urging Willkie to disregard the politicos and go direct to the people. They hold that Willkie can't lose if he will do that even if Dewey, through control of the convention machinery, does capture the gubernatorial nomination.

Willkie's stature and influence with the great mass of voters, these friends contend, will be stronger than ever.

* * *

Party Unity.

THIS militant counsel is being countered strongly by oldline GOP chiefs on two grounds.

One, that if he opens fire on Dewey, there is grave danger of disrupting "party unity." The other is that Willkie would play squarely into the hands of the New Dealers.

These arguments are carrying much weight with Willkie because of his deep conviction that in these disturbed days it is vital for democracy to maintain the two party system. Willkie is much concerned about preserving this U. S. system. He sincerely believes that its continuance is endangered, and he harbors very definite suspicions regarding Franklin Roosevelt.

However, at the same time, Willkie is equally disturbed about the powerful isolationist forces within the Republican party. He considers them just as menacing to the welfare of the nation as the Democrats he suspects of having designs on the two party system.

How to fight both most effectively is the problem he is up against, and so far he hasn't found the answer.

* * *

Consolation Prize.

APPEARING before the house appropriations committee on the budget, Wendell Lund, hard-hitting young chief of the WPB labor division, was asked the usual questions about his background.

"I was director of the Michigan state social security board before I came to Washington," he said.

"What did you do before that?"

"I ran for congress, but didn't make it," replied Lund with a broad smile.

"I'm in favor of increasing Mr. Lund's appropriation," remarked Representative Louis C. Rabaut, Michigan New Dealer, "as a consolation prize."

* * *

Economizer—Sometimes!

ONE of the busiest crusaders for government economy is Henry Merrit Wriston, socialite president of Brown university. As chairman of the Citizens' Emergency Committee on Non-Defense Expenditures, Dr. Wriston has bombarded congress with impassioned demands for cuts in the budget of the National Youth administration and other agencies.

Also, he has functioned as a leading backstage adviser of Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, anti-New Deal chairman of the Joint Economy Committee on Non-Defense Spending.

However, like many politicos, Dr. Wriston doesn't apply his economy dogmas to expenditures in which he has a personal interest.

The educator recently wrote to Senator Theodore F. Green of Rhode Island, vigorously demanding that the senate recede from a 40 per cent reduction it voted in the state department's budget for "printing and binding."

"The amount available for printing and binding has been reduced to such an extent," protested Dr. Wriston, "that it would prevent the publication of the records of the Paris Peace conference of 1919."

What Dr. Wriston didn't say in his letter was that he is a trustee of the World Peace foundation, which is greatly interested in the publication—at government expense—of these state department records.

* * *

Suggestion.

HERE is an example which might be followed very profitably by Uncle Sam:

In Australia every business man appointed to a job with a government war agency must first go to a special school for one month to learn how to cut red-tape. According to Australians this system has been extremely successfull in speeding up governmental administration.

Not only could the idea well be applied to U. S. business men; but not to a great many government officials, particularly army, navy and state department brasshats.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—You've heard the one about the tough guy who used thumb tacks for garters. . . . The other day a family who rented a six room house put in a hurried call for the landlord. When that gentleman arrived he was more than commonly interested to find the family standing on the curb across the street pointing excitedly toward the roof. Something seeming to be crawling on that roof. There was. It was a swarm of 20,000 bees. You couldn't see the slate shingles for the bees.

It happened that the landlord knew a carpenter who was a bee fancier. This carpenter was summoned, and he said, yes, he knew what to do, but he would have to knock a hole through the roof to get the bees off of there. "If I don't find the hive and the queen bee, and get them out of there, the others won't leave," he explained.

The landlord said forgoodness-sake go ahead and hack a hole through the roof. Do anything, but get those bees out of there.

* * *

THAT'S what the carpenter did, He made an opening about three feet square, and presently he emerged with the hive and the queen bee. By this time he himself was a crawling hive. They covered his hands and his neck and face and they crawled down his shirt.

"I'm immune" he said. "They sting a little, but I don't poison"

He set down the hive and with one hand wiped the bees off the other, as if he had been wiping mud off his hands. Then he took out a pocketknife and casually began to pick little holes in his hand.

"What in the world are you doing?" the landlord screamed.

"Picking out the stingers," the carpenter drawled. He would pick out a stinger, fling it to the ground, and pick out another. He scoffed at the idea that it hurt. . . . I never learned whether he used thumbtacks for garters or not. . . .

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

A Farmer's Diary

Know Values

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE GREATEST and most lasting force in American history, so far, has been its frontier life. In this life, every individual was brought face to face with the reality of making a living. Kit Carson, Buffalo Bill, Sam Houston—these heroic types possessed the urge to "go west." They wrested from a semi-barren land, necessary food and clothing as nonchalantly as they disposed of Indians and buffaloes.

Learning how to earn, and how to spend wisely are two of the best things a farm can teach. Any fool or selfish person can hoard money. But it takes an individual of sound judgment and real education in values to use money wisely.

When a boy on a farm has learned from his rural home or school how to weed out the boarders from his dairy herd and purchase good productive stock; or if he can cull a flock of layers and know by test how to feed and attend them properly—and why his method works—he becomes a positive asset to that farm, to himself, and to the nation.

Judgment of values, on the farm and elsewhere, is a matter of comparisons and eliminations. There is no place else where so many judgments and comparisons are part of the day's work, as on a farm. Each farm, each field, has different soil. How can it be improved? What crops can be grown to best advantage? What is its intrinsic value, if a prospective purchaser should make inquiry?

The farm boy early will have to compare life on the farm with labor of the great middle class in town. If he has a right sense of values he will not overestimate his strength, or the strength of his wife and children in labor to be accomplished. Health and happiness of farm families are sometimes ruined by overwork. The balanced farmer will know the value of hours of play, the benefit of a change of scenery, the genuine need that is met by friendly visits with his neighbors.

The farmer will farm better who does not despise the joy of good books, good music, lectures and motion picture shows—even though they go outside his farm experience. That farmer will be happiest who leads a busy, broad, full life, who deepens his own knowledge of values every year. "He shall be like a tree planted beside the rivers of water.

'HEALTH FOR VICTORY' CLUB TO MEET AGAIN

Mrs. Julia Kiene Will Give Talk, Demonstration on "Summer Health" In Westinghouse Auditorium Thursday.

SUMMER HEALTH," a timely topic that has a direct bearing on the efficiency of this country's war production machine will be the subject of Mrs. Julia Kiene's presentation at the fifth monthly meeting of the Westinghouse "Health for Victory" club tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 in the company auditorium.

Importance of eating properly in the summertime and suggested simple guides for planning meals during hot weather months will be emphasized by the Westinghouse Home Economics head as she presents her monthly nutrition program to the club members—the women who cook for the plant's war workers.

In discussing tomorrow's meeting, Mrs. Kiene points out that contrary to many popular beliefs, it is extremely important to serve hot dishes in hot weather. More active living in the summertime places greated demands on the physical energy output of our bodies due to out-of-door sports and gardening in addition to our regular heavy duty war work. To meet these energy consuming demands, more energy-giving foods must be eaten.

"This problem," suggests this national nutrition authority, "calls for carefully controlled meal planning and preparation, since the digestive tract is naturally sluggish in hot weather. Hot foods must be eaten every meal because they are easier to digest than cold foods."

Supplementing her discussion by the use of charts, Mrs. Kiene will illustrate how to obtain the proper balance among the three general food classifications—energy-giving, body-building, and body-protecting foods. Examples taken from the July Meal-Planning Guide will be used to stress the difference between properly and poorly balanced meals.

All attending tomorrow's meeting will receive copies of next month's Meal-Planning Guide containing carefully worked out menus for each meal of the month, based on a modest food budget for a family of five. A feature of the Health for Victory club, this monthly Meal-Planning Guide has created favorable comments from members using it and government nutrition leaders alike. It offers a worked-out-in-advance daily application of balanced meal suggestions to simplify the housewife's task of improving the nutrition habits of her family.

Following the example of this Mansfield Health for Victory club, the nation's first, similar clubs have already been organized in other war plants throughout the country. The meeting programs presented to the local members are reproduced and distributed to war plants all over the country to be used as a pattern for individually sponsored clubs.

A "Suggestion Box" will be located in the lobby just outside the company auditorium where women attending the meeting can place written questions requiring individual attention, or helpful suggestions that they have uncovered in their daily use of the Meal-Planning Guide.

Mrs. Kiene states that again she is issuing an invitation to attend tomorrow's meeting to those local women outside the Westinghouse organization who are now enrolled in the county's nutrition classes.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, June 25

POWERFUL influences continue to hold sway in the celestial map, with increasing opportunities for advancing the position and prestige in a subtle or unusual manner, and with influential forces at work to bring this about by means of behind-the-scenes measures or understandings. There should be concentrated activity toward attaining honors, distinction or favors, but with an eye to much discretion, strategy and clever technique rather than any untoward effort to force issues, with these in power.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured a year of continued advance upon high position and personal prestige, possibly in some out of the ordinary manner, perhaps on the sea or in the air or in advantageous ways of enlisting the rewards and honors of those in authority. This had best be maneuvered by subtle strategies, secret agreements or unique abilities rather than attempts to force issues.

A child born on this day should be gifted with exceptional creative abilities which may win it renown or tokens of approbation from those in power. Its recognition of its subtle faculties may assist in its notable career and happiness.

COURT FOR DAY WORKERS

PITTSBURG, Can. — (U.P.) — Defense workers should have every opportunity of appearing after working hours, Justice of the peace Michael J. Gatto declared in announcing that he would hold night court once a week for traffic citations received by employes of defense factories.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

There was such anguish in Ronald's voice that I longed to tell him what I had heard my father say concerning the way in which Dicky had managed to hobble the activities of the "collegiate gangster," so mysteriously traveling in Carolyn's orbit.

But I couldn't. It was not my secret. If Dicky had thought it wise for him to know, he would have told him.

But I resolved that as soon as my husband should arrive, I would beg him to tell Ronald the news which could not fail to remove some of his anxiety. I knew how futile was any abstract assurance. Ronald needed concrete facts. So I braced myself to utter a conventional but consoling falsehood.

"I don't think it means as much as you think, Ronald" I said. "Anyway, I think I am on the track of something which may help us. And I'll let you know all I hear.

"Meanwhile, don't judge Carolyn too harshly. Don Quixote had nothing on the modern girl when it comes to tilting at windmills."

"Yes, I know that," he agreed a bit absently, then roused himself with a start.

"But I mustn't take up your time, Auntie Madge," he said. "Shall I go back to your father's suite?"

"No indeed," I said. "I'm going to prescribe your course of treatment for the next half hour or so, until my father comes back here.

"Item one," I said smiling, "is that couch over by the wall. It is most comfortable. Item two, the blanket folded at its foot. Item three, the reading lamp at the head of the bed. Item four, the magazine on the table.

Gets Ronald To Relax.

"It's an unusually good one," I rattled on, "with articles ranging from grave to gay, from lively to severe, including the opening chapters of one of the best mystery yarns I have read in a long time.

"I prescribe," I went on firmly, feeling that he would be better off alone for a little while, yet reluctant to have him go back to the solitude of my father's suite, "that all four of the items be taken at once."

"What about you?" he asked protestingly.

"I am going into the bedroom," I answered, "to take off my shoes, slip into a negligee and lie down for forty—or at least twenty—winks, before my father comes back. I hope you can fall asleep also, but if you can't, try to lose yourself in reading."

"You're sure you don't want me to go back to the other suite?" he asked

Wants Him Near.

"Positive!" I told him. "In fact, I shall feel a lot safer if you're in the next room. I'm a bit jittery, as Mary would say, over this guard business."

"I should imagine you might be," he answered, "and I'll be mightily glad to stick around."

"Then au revoir until my father comes," I said, going into the bedroom and closing the door.

I stood in the center of the room for several seconds, wondering if I had done everything possible to bolster the flagging spirits of the sorely tried lad. Finally, assuring myself that I had done all I could to the best of my ability, I slipped out of my street clothes into a negligee and fairly dived into my bed.

When I awakened, it was to the sound of knocking on the outer door of my living room, where Ronald lay.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

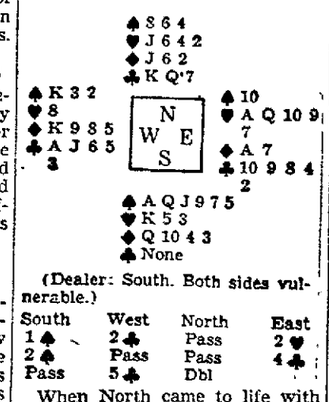
"The Authority on Authorities"

DON'T GIVE IT AWAY

If you hold possession of a vital war-time secret, you are going to guard it from the enemy, aren't you? And the same is true of lesser secrets, such as the fact that you have a trump holding which will beat the opponents if they don't learn of it. So many points are at stake when the opponents have bid a voluntary game that you had better keep your mouth shut when you think you have the setting tricks, if a double may tell the declarer how to play the hand, or at least make it easier for him to figure out the successful method.



(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	2 ♣	Pass	2 ♥
2 ♠	Pass	Pass	4 ♣
Pass	5 ♣	Dbl

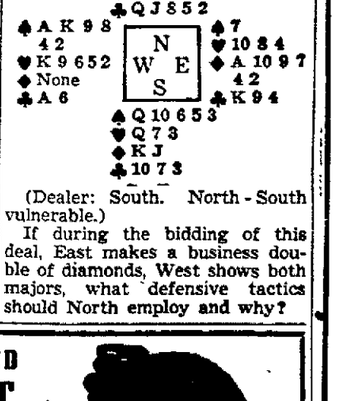
When North came to life with that double, after having been silent the rest of the time, almost anybody could tell he probably was counting on trump tricks, most particularly after West saw the dummy. Sitting at his left he would almost surely find the three missing trumps.

North led the spade 8 to the A, and South decided then to attack the side entry for dummy's hearts by returning the diamond 3. West had to feel his way and calculate North's distribution, in order to end-play him. He took the second trick with the diamond A, scored the heart A, ruffed a heart with the club 3, cashed the spade K, ruffed a spade with the club 2, ruffed the heart 9 with the club 5, the K dropping, scored the diamond K, ruffed the diamond 8 with the 4, discarded a diamond on the heart Q, then led the club 10.

That licked North, when West played low. Now all he could get was one trump trick, and he had to lead back from his K-7 into the A-J.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

If during the bidding of this deal, East makes a business double of diamonds, West shows both majors, what defensive tactics should North employ and why?

GUERRILLAS SET FOR 'THE DAY,' WRITER SAYS

Woman Who Lived Among China's Patriot Fighters Reveals They Like U. S.

(Editor's Note: Adeline Gray, of San Francisco, who tells for Wide World and The News-Journal of her experiences in Chinese guerrilla territory, speaks Chinese fluently and at one time tutored the children of Gen. Lung Yun, governor of Yunnan province.)

By ADELINE GRAY

CHUNGKING —(Wide World)—From the rolling Nomad plains of inner Mongolia to the shores of the South China sea, Chinese guerrillas are waiting to strike their hardest blows on "the day" when a grand Chinese counter-offensive is launched.

I spent four months in a guerrilla territory touching the very fringe of one of the cities under Japanese occupation.

"When we have the arms and when the generalissimo gives the order we will rise as one to smite the enemy," I was told over and over again.

In the past few months there has been a change in the policy of the Japanese towards the guerrillas. Instead of killing all those they capture, the invaders are trying to convert some of their captives.

"They lecture to us and try to win us over to their way of thinking," a guerrilla who had escaped from the Japanese told me. "When persuasion fails they sometimes try enticement. I was offered a Japanese girl as a wife, but I preferred escape," he added with a grin.

The guerrillas keep well up on the world affairs and have a high regard for America. During my stay in their territory, I rode a bicycle around, wore American clothes and became known to everyone in the countryside.

Toward the end of April the Guerrilla chief called me and said, "if you intend to go to Chungking, you had better get started as the Japanese are preparing for a drive which may hinder your travel."

So with a half hour's notice I set off with about 20 guerrillas to try to penetrate Japanese lines and get into free China.

During the trip through the occupied area, we never knew when we might come upon the Nipponese or they upon us, or when we might be nabbed in raids, caught in sudden barricades of districts or betrayed by spies. For nearly three weeks I was never more than a few miles away from the Japanese at any time, sometimes closer.

The guerrillas showed great concern for my safety and provided the best of care they could.

I was regarded not simply as a foreigner going thorugh, but as an American, a national of a country which the Chinese admire and respect.

The last few miles of Japanese-occupied territory was the most dangerous of all. Not only was it full of enemy troops but thick with bandits who abound in the occupied area.

If we attempted a night crossing, we most probably would have been robbed of all our possessions consequently there was nothing to do but travel in broad daylight. We sent runners ahead to keep us informed if the Japanese were approaching.

The first town in free China we reached was in the path of a Japanese drive. I knew at once we were in free China because the town was a mass of ruins from Japanese air attacks.

The battered town was no surprise, but a box of American chocolates was. It was given to me by a powerful guerrilla chieftain who had heard I was an American.

"These are probably the last box of American chocolates which you or I will be seeing for a long time so you had better take them," he told me.

With that he was off to the front, and I on my way into the heart of free China to Chungking.

'Russian Front' Film Opens Run At Theater Here

News-reels filmed by Russian cameramen supplied the factual material for the picture that was cut and assembled by Lewis Milestone and Jorvis Ivens and is narrated by Walter Huston from a commentary written by Elliott Paul, author of "The Last Time I Saw Paris."

The picture shows the part every combatant and non-combatant in Russia is playing to help win the war and the scenes are said to range from the bloodiest battles of World War II down to the children who climb watch towers in the Ukrainian wheatfields to watch for parachutists.

Sponsored by Russian War Relief, Inc., the film depicts the Red Army rolling back the Nazi aggressors by land, sea and in the air. It also shows the great network of civilian defense throughout the country and the way women are taking their place in fields, factories and women's battalion.

The film supplements the feature attraction, "The Great Man's Lady," a story of the silver rush when the west was young, co-starring Barbara Stanwyck and Joel McCrea.

NEW WAREHOUSE

Westinghouse Announces Canton Building to Cost Half Million.

CANTON —(INS)— Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company officials announced today that a new warehouse to cost approximately $500,000 will go under construction soon at the naval ordnance plant here. The company operates the plant.

SENATE READY TO PASS BIG WAR MEASURES

Committee Approves Army Bill of 43 Billions, Navy Expansion.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The senate prepared today for quick action on two huge war bills—the $43,000,000,000 appropriation bill for the army and an authorization to expand the navy by 1,900,000 tons of warships at a cost of $8,500,000,000.

Chairman Elmer Thomas, D, Okla., of the senate military appropriations subcommittee predicted that the army supply bill—the biggest in history for a 4,500,000-man army within the next 12 months—would be enacted into law by July 1. It was approved unanimously, 325 to 0, yesterday by the house.

The fleet expansion bill, already approved by the house, also was approved unanimously by the senate naval affairs committee yesterday. Senate action will come before the end of this week. The bill will put the emphasis on aircraft carriers. It ignores battleships.

The naval committee's action came after hearing secret testimony by Admiral Frederick J. Horne, vice chief of naval operations. Chairman David I. Walsh, D., Mass., said Horne gave the committee "considerable information about the actions in the Coral sea, at Midway and in the Aleutians in connection with the aircraft carrier—our naval vessel that proved the most serviceable."

Sen. Ralph O. Brewster, R., Me., a member of the committee said after the hearing that the battleship has been "sunk without a trace." He doubted that the navy in the future would build any new battleships except, perhaps, to replace those that become overage.

The committee approved the expansion bill without change. It authorizes construction of more than 400 fighting ships—500,000 tons of carriers, 500,000 tons of cruisers, 900,000 tons of destroyers and escorts—and would increase the navy's authorized combat tonnage to 5,649,480 tons.

Thomas said his subcommittee has asked Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson to advise it wether the war departmenrt wants any changes made in the $43,000,000,000 army supply bill.

He said brief hearings probably would be held Friday and Saturday to prepare the bill for senate debate next Monday.

The bill provides for an army of "over 4,500,000" men during the coming year. It carries $11,316,898,910 for the army air corps, which gets the biggest individual item.

WESTERN AREA LINES CHECKED

Survey to Determine Outlets of Downspouts Progresses, Inspector Reports.

SHELBY — More than 100 homes in the west section of the city have been checked so far in the city-wide survey of downspouts being conducted by Charles Wilson for the city.

The survey is being conducted to find out the homes in the city where the downspouts are connected with the sanitary sewer instead of the storm sewer.

During heavy rains, the water backs up in the sanitary sewer flooding basements of a number of homes and causing considerable damage.

If the downspouts are taken out of the sanitary sewer, it is believed that the trouble would be corrected.

So far, Wilson reports, he has found a number of places where the downspouts emptied into the sanitary sewer instead of the storm sewer. At a few homes, the sanitary sewer lines empty into the storm sewer.

After the survey is completed, owners of homes where the downspouts empty into the sanitary sewer will be ordered to have them changed into the storm sewer.

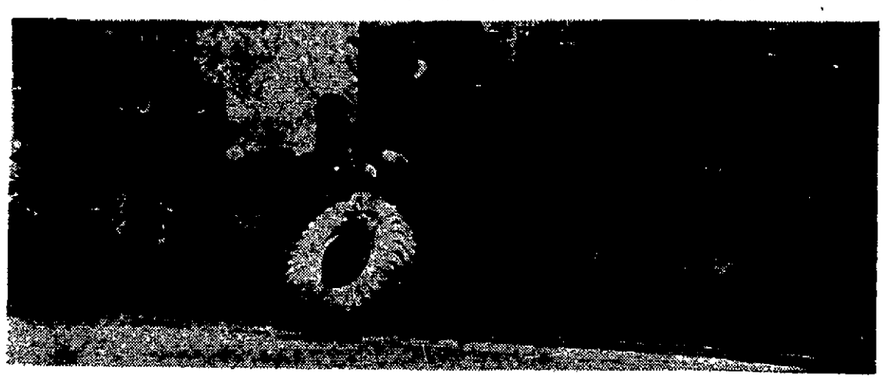
700 Tires Turned Over to Uncle Sam



The huge tire that's been a familiar sight in front of the My Tire Store, 274 North Mulberry street, for the last six years, was one of the 700 worn out tires turned over by Philip Goettl, proprietor of the firm, to the scrap rubber collection Shown above are the 700 tires, weighing 11,250 pounds, just before they were hauled away to Cities Service and Pure Oil company stations. The big tire, which came from a ground mover at the Mifflin Lake project, weighs 490 pounds. Goettl is third from left in the above picture. At left are two sons, Emil and Philip, jr., and standing atop the pile is another son, Richard, 13. Perched on the giant tire is three-year-old Emil, jr., who's known as "Skipper."

THREE CHURCHES HOLDING PICNICS

SHELBY—Annual picnics for three Shelby churches are scheduled today and Thursday at Seltzer park.

The annual Lutheran church picnic this evening was to draw several hundred children and adults to the park. A program of athletic events and other entertainment was scheduled. Some 50 chickens weighing over four pounds each were to furnish the meat for the menu.

The Sunday school departments of the First Presbyterian church and Evangelical and Reformed church will have outings at the park Thursday afternoon. Special programs are planned for both affairs.

CHARGE ATTEMPT TO DISCREDIT CONGRESS THROUGH PURGE LISTS

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Members of congress whose names have appeared on various "purge" lists from time to time found solace today in a Dies committee report declaring they were the intended victims of a deliberate movement to "discredit the legislative branch of our government" and to "obliterate the congress."

"Many of the efforts to purge individual members of congress," the committee said, ". . . consist of the view that the sole remaining function of congress is to ratify by unanimous vote whatever wish is born anywhere at any time in the whole vast structure of the executive branch of government down to the last whim of any and every administrative official."

The report, approved by five of the seven committee members, assailed the Union for Democratic Action as an organization "composed chiefly of individuals who have been a significant part of the interlocking directorate of the communist movement in the United States."

"It is one thing to indict individual members of congress for their votes and opinions with which one is in disagreement," the committee commented, but "it is an entirely different matter to scoff at the institution of congress."

Time magazine, the committee said, "has been drawn sucker-fashion into this movement to alter our form of government by attacking its legislative branch, and a "steady barrage against congress comes from" the newspaper PM, the New Republic, the Daily Worker, the New Masses and from the Union for Democratic Action.

U. S. Soldiers Are Supplied With Sulfanilimide

SAN FRANCISCO—(INS)—American soldiers armed with the most advanced weapons for war are now carrying another weapon into battle — Sufanilimide — the difference between life and death to a wounded soldier.

The drug is used solely to combat the growth of bacteria and does not alleviate pain.

Each soldier is equipped with a box of twelve tablets. After being wounded, he is ordered to take two of the tablets every five minutes until all twelve have been taken.

Army physicians have found that the drug is useful in the prevention of the bacterial growth and periodic checks are made to be sure that each soldier has his box of tablets.

Workers In 13 War Industries 'Exempt'

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Somewhere the sun is shining—if my friend the censor will permit this reference to the weather—and all of us should remember this.

These are trying times, but after all we haven't lost the war.

On the contrary we are just getting set to win it.

Right now, however, we are facing what looks like a spell of unmitigated hell.

With victorious Nazi Field Marshal Rommel massing troops on the Egyptian border for a quick drive into the land of the Pharoahs the position there is critical.

Still, it strikes me that the greatest danger to the defense of Alexandria and the Suez canal lies in the great air-force which Hitler may be expected to fling into this battle, and may also employ in an attempt to invade Syria and thus advance on Egypt from the east while Rommel rushes in from the west.

However London states that reinforcements are arriving in the Middle East and these presumably include warplanes. United States heavy bombers are in action with the British against Romel's positions, and the British navy is getting into position to blast its Nazi leader's line of communication along the military highway which skirts the Mediterranean. That route is one of Rommel's weaknesses and is likely to cost him dearly.

Rommel's success has spurred the Nazi efforts to smash the Russians. South of Kharkov the Reds have been compelled to withdraw somewhat but, as Moscow points out, local successes of this sort cannot be decisive.

The Hitlerites also continue to pile their dead against the bastions of Sevastopol.

The terrific weight which Hitler is flinging against these Red positions, and the fresh reserves which he is holding in readiness, would make it rash for one to predict that the Russians won't be forced to make further withdrawals. Still, every day that the Red line holds is a big stride toward Allied victory.

The Axis position being what it is, its no surprise to see the Germans undertaking a propaganda campaign to precipitate war between Japan and Russia.

The Japs won't want to fight Russia now, because they already have more on their hands than they can take care of, but there's no doubt that opportunist Tokyo is getting set for the contingency. Fresh troops have been sent into Manchuko and the Nipponese have in the neighborhood of a million men on the Siberian border ready for action. Its likely, too, that the extension of the Jap operations in our far western Aleutians is part of this preparation.

Many observers believe the Japanese won't be drawn into conflict with Russia if the Axis appears to be losing in Europe or if Hitler should start winning hands down. They don't intend to pull his chestnuts out of the fire when he is losing, and if he is winning they don't need to jump in. The moment when they might attack Siberia would be one like the present, when the Germans appear to be getting on well but need additional help to make the grade. Hence the Berlin propaganda campaign now.

FABLES FROM THE FIFTIES: I was at Lindy's the other night that Lou Holtz repeated the classic yarn about the local comedians who frequent that herring-salon. The boys usually sit around one big table, and conversation is less a matter of exchanging thoughts than of each comic waiting for another to finish, so that he can come up with a topper. Usually, truth to tell, the boys don't even listen to one another, because they are too busy thinking up the next gag.

One evening, the conversation happened to be taken over briefly by a Broadwayite who had something different to talk about.

"My grandfather just died," he said sadly. "He'd been sick for years, and he was a very old man, but it still was a terrible shock to the family."

There was a brief silence when he finished, then one of the boys, who had been impatiently waiting for a lull in the talk, spoke up.

"If you think that's funny," he said, "Wait'll you hear this!"

A Stone's Throw From Broadway: Fritz Kreisler lunched in the tiny Galerie de Pompadour over the Cafe Louis XIV, looking still pale and tired from his auto injuries of some months ago . . . Ann Miller, whose once-raven locks are now platinum, was stared at by an uninhibited waiter at Jimmy Dwyer's Sawdust Trail the other evening. Quoth he: "You know—it's too bad you're a blond. If you were dark, you'd look just like Ann Miller!" . . . Johnny Long, the maestro, is buying layettes—but it's not what you think. Three musicians in his band are about to become fathers — and Johnny is wandering through the tiny garments section of the stores with That Bewildered Look . . Gracie Hartman is displaying a dimout bag to the Cub Room set—the clasps are tiny bulbs that light up when you go fishing for coin. "Moths love it," Gracie says

Advice: Eddie Davis, the bon vivant of Leon and Eddie's, seems to be a magnet for mad characters. Only the other day a lady with a rather befuddled look cornered him and said:

"I don't know what day my husband left Detroit, or if he's stopping off on the way to New York. I'd like to know if he's traveling by bus or train, and what day he'll get here. How can I find out?"

"Go," directed Davis, "to 47th street. Right between 6th and 7th avenues you'll notice a small sign. Stop there and walk up to the second floor. Go in. Have lunch. After lunch, ask to see one of the Gypsies. She'll tell your fortune for you."

57 MILLION JOIN PENNSYLVANIA BLACKOUT TEST

Cities Darkened All Night, Red Cross Tries Out Emergency Plans.

(By International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA — State and local Civilian Defense authorities today expressed satisfaction with results of the east's largest all-night blackout—an awe-inspiring demonstration which affected 5,600,000 persons in 31 eastern Pennsylvania counties.

From 8:30 p. m. last night until 5 o'clock, this morning the entire eastern half of Pennsylvania was darkened, from the mountain regions of the north, through the rich anthracite coal belt, to the Delaware and Maryland borders.

"It was as nearly like the real thing as we could make it," said Dr. A. C. Marts, executive director of the state defense council.

"Impressive," said army officials who kept close tabs on the first large-scale dusk-to-dawn test in the state.

From 10:30 p. m. until 11, all traffic was stopped and street lights were extinguished in a half-hour "total blackout" simulating actual war conditions. The time of the complete eclipse was contained in sealed orders held by local defense councils.

Similar all-night tests are scheduled in central Pennsylvania counties tonight, while the soft coal and steel centers in the western section of the state will hold their test tomorrow night.

A bright moon shone down on the entire proceedings, lighting the roof-tops of buildings, clearly marking out rivers and streams. All defense plants were exempt from the blackout regulations and sent up flaring invitations to enemy bombers.

In some parts of Philadelphia the test was marked by confusion caused by the premature sounding of whistles and sirens; a near riot when the lights in a mid-city department store failed to go out, and a traffic snarl at the Army War show in Franklin Field.

The all-night blackout was used as a test period by the Red Cross and other agencies cooperating with the Civilian Defense control centers. Bands of special wardens roamed the area creating "incidents" and reporting the results.

A striking feature of the practice was the great silence that prevailed during the night—as if the cutting off of light automatically caused pedestrians to lower their voices. Big cities became "small towns" for a while in the interests of self-protection.

TAKEN BY DEATH

TENSION GROWS IN ARGENTINE

Ailing President to Resign; Government Takes Serious View of Ship Sinking.

(By Associated Press)

BUENOS AIRES—The resignation of the ailing and inactive president of Argentina, Roberto Ortuz, was expected momentarily today, complicating further a tense diplomatic situation created by the sinking of an Argentine freighter by a German submarine.

Additional police guards were sent to the German embassy last night as a foreign office spokesman announced that Argentina was taking a serious view of the destruction of the Argentine freighter Rio Tercero and the killing of five of her crew.

Acting President Ramon Castillo, whose "policy of prudence" has kept Argentina one of two South American countries maintaining relations with the Axis, conferred with Foreign Minister Enrique Ruiz Guinazu and the ministers of war, navy and interior yesterday after announcement of the German attack, about 100 miles from New York.

Foreign office spokesman announced the government's action in the sinking probably would be announced some time today.

Meanwhile, many legislators and political leaders visited the ailing President Ortiz, an ardent supporter of President Roosevelt's policies. Partially blind and suffering from diabetes, Ortiz is determined to resign, one of the visitors said.

HEART ATTACK ENDS IN DEATH

Mrs. Etta B. Clugh, 68, Dies At Home In Hayesville.

HAYESVILLE— Mrs. Etta B. Clugh, 68, Hayesville resident for two years, died at her home last night after a heart attack.

She resided in Monroe township before moving to Hayesville. Surviving are two sons, Paul, Hayesville, and Dr. Ralph B. Clugh, Akron; three grandchildren, and a sister, Mrs. C. B. Tattersall of Lynwood, Calif. Her husband, John U. Clugh, died two years ago.

The body was taken to the Byerly funeral home, Lucas, and will be returned to the home Thursday afternoon. Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. Friday at the Hayesville Methodist church. Rev. F. L. Mitzel will officiate at the services and burial will be in Mt. Zion cemetery. The body will be taken to the church an hour before funeral services.

AMERICAN PILOT TELLS HOW HE LIVED ON GRASSHOPPER, OWL LEGS

MELBOURNE — (INS) — One grasshopper, minute shellfish, some lily roots and an owl's legs —this diet was all that sustained an American fighter pilot from Columbia, S. C., three days and nights during a torturing march through a swamp of melted vines and long grass after he was forced down in the wilds of North Australia, it was revealed today.

Here is the story of the flier, identified only as "Bill":

"The third day out I fell exhausted on the grass in the wilderness but managed to grab and devour a grasshopper, which was not so bad, somewhat like crab meat.

"The next day I was stumbling along a small stream and reached a beach where I found a clam the size of an oyster.

"Then an owl dropped off a tree and scurried across the beach toward the sea. I had only three shots left in my forty-five and wanted to keep them for signals, so I went after the owl with my knife. I ate his legs raw and saved the rest for later.

"Then two things happened simultaneously—a crocodile reared to the surface thirty feet off and I heard the whirr of an airplane engine

"Still clutching the dismembered owl in one hand I tottered to the beach again and spread a disc from my parachute on the ground. The plane sighted it and dropped a canteen of water and some food. I flung the owl's remains to the crocodile and ran toward the food, crying like a baby. Within an hour a smaller plane landed in the clearing back of the beach and I was taken off."

ILLNESS FATAL

Raymond Young, 42, Dies; Rites Set For Thursday.

Life-long Mansfield resident, Raymond (Brigg) Young, 42, of 123 Boughton avenue, died at General hospital last night, after a brief illness.

The son of Cora Crowner Young and C J. Young, he was born Aug. 31, 1899. He was employed by the Saprano Cigar store and was a member of the Loyal Order of Moose.

Surviving are his parents and four sisters, Mrs. Albert Hamman, Mrs. Harry B Lawrence and Mable Young, all of Mansfield, and Mrs. Vaughn Enger of Detroit.

The body was removed to the Finefrock Funeral home where services will be conducted at 2:30 p. m. Thursday. Rev. Grover E Swoyer, pastor of the First Lutheran church, will officiate. Burial will be in Mansfield Memorial park.

G. A. R. ELECTS CRESTLINE VET

Thomas Ridenour Named Adjutant and Quartermaster.

CRESTLINE — Thomas Ridenour, 97-year-old Crestline Civil war veteran who is attending the Ohio encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic in Columbus, was named to the office of adjutant and quartermaster of the organization, according to dispatches from the capital today.

Byron W. Joslin, 97, of Sidney, one of the three other Civil war veterans attending the encampment, was elected Ohio department commander.

The bicycles belonging to Girl Scouts of Troop 9 came in handy yesterday when the troop decided to make an overnight "hike" to the Mifflin cottage of one of their leaders, Mrs. Joy Herbert. The girls bicycled to Mifflin, cooked an outdoor supper, camped out until the mosquitoes drove them indoors and then came back to town today after cooking an outdoor breakfast. Mrs. F. H. McDowell, co-leader of the troop, joined the Scouts on the outing.

Members of the county auditor's staff are having better luck now with their official picture-taking since they have a new camera. For two or three years they used a camera that Auditor Norman L. Wolfe bought for a dollar and an advertising coupon to make pictures of new buildings for appraisal purposes. It wore out and a new one of better quality was provided. "We can take our pictures now in any kind of weather instead of waiting for a clear day and then maybe having to go back to try again after the first picture failed to turn out well," the auditor said.

Someone who turned in a batch of knit sweaters, skirts or some of the other objects which are prepared at the Red Cross production center inadvertly included a family keepsake, according to Mrs George Hughes, chairman of the inspection and packing committee. When she got to the bottom of the huge box in which the garments are placed before packing Mrs. Hughes found an envelope filled with beautiful blond hair, apparently the tresses saved when someone had a child's hair cut short. There was no name on the envelope.

Mansfield swimming enthusiasts are wishing for warmer weather but there's one particular contingent holding strong hopes for a warm day tomorrow. The 20 or more members of the Richland county blind school have made plans to hold their first swimming party at Liberty park but unless the weather moderates other activities will be substituted.

KEY EMPLOYES DEFERRED BY NEW RULING

War Manpower Board Prepares List of Industries Deemed Essential.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — War manpower authorites today placed 13 wartime industries on a list which will virtually exempt key workers in them from the draft.

Formal announcement of the action was expected to be made within the next 24 hours by Paul V. McNutt, chairman of President Roosevelt's war manpower commission. The industries are:

Aircraft, shipbuilding, ordnance; ammunition; fire arms: scientific instruments; wood distillation; naval stores; iron and steel and non-ferrous foundry production; poultry and dairy farming; explosives; food processing; and sugar beet production.

More industries may be added later.

Manpower officials made it clear, however, that draft exemptions will be extended only to key workers in the industries such as die makers, job setters, machinists, tool makers, ship fitters, ship carpenters, ship electricians, sheet metal workers, surface grinder operators, tool grinder operators, boring mill operators, engine lathe operators and turret lathe operators. A list of specific occupations will accompany the list of industries.

While the selective service prohibits group deferments, Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national draft director, already has issued an announcement that local draft boards will be directed to use the manpower commission's lists as "a yardstick for measuring applications for occupational deferments."

The clause prohibiting group deferments was written into the present draft act to prevent a repetition of the scandals of World war I when workers were alleged to have purchased jobs in shipyards to escape military service. Under the present system, the list drawn up by the manpower commission will serve as a guide for local boards in considering deferments. While each case will be considered individually, the draft boards are expected to follow recommendations of the manpower commission. Employers whose key workers are classified into class 1-A can use the list in asking for deferments, it was explained.

Manpower officials, making long range plans, declared that ultimately 10,000,000 men may be needed for the armed forces, 20,000,000 on the production line and 12,000,000 in farm work. In addition, 5,500,000 women are expected to be trained for jobs in war factories by the end of 1943.

Pay-as-You-Go Plan Ups Taxes For Canadians

OTTAWA—(INS)—The Canadian taxpayer received another jolt today as he studied the 1942 budget submitted to parliament by Finance Minister James Ilsley.

He faced new and stiffer taxes, which included compulsory savings, a 100 per cent excess profits tax and heavier taxes on almost all luxury articles

Designed to finance the war effort on a "pay as you go policy" Ilsley said the budget calls for the expenditure of four billion dollars.

Among the proposals were a graduated scale increase on personal income tax "in relation to ability to pay," the virtual doubling of the corporation income tax, and increased taxes on liquors, wines, malt, cigarets, tobacco, cigars, soft drinks, playing cards, candy and chewing gum.

CLAIMED BY DEATH

BUCYRUS—A former Crawford county resident, John F. Bauer, 63, died yesterday in Toledo after an illness of 10 months. The body will be removed to Bucyrus tomorrow where funeral services will be conducted at 1:30 p. m. at St. James Episcopal church. Burial will be in Oakwood cemetery.

Ed Arlin, husky tackle of last fall's undefeated Mansfield high school's Tyger football team is going to go to the University of Georgia, but definitely.

This I learned by accosting him on the street and inquiring in a round about way:

"Ed, are you going to Georgia?"

And to this he replied, somewhat evasively:

"Yes."

So you put two and two together and there you have it.

* * *

And then I nosed around further into matters that weren't a bit of my business and asked:

"Did you do as well at Georgia as Bob Winbigler and Paul Dietzel did at Duke?" And the answer to this was:

"Better!"

And after checking it over I find that he did very much better indeed. He gets everything that Windy and Dietzel got, plus clothes, spending money and tutor, if he wants one. I don't think he'll need one. A bright boy is young Mr. Arlin.

* * *

"I don't know why I shouldn't take an offer like that," says Ed. "Tuition, room, board, books, and all the rest of it. I don't think I'd be very bright to turn it down." So Miami loses a tackle, and another Mansfield youngster steps into big time football.

Ed Chatlain, former Mansfield high school and Wittenberg college athletic star, now in service as a physical instructor in the naval air force, has moved again—this time all the way to six miles.

Ed and the four other chiefs in charge of physical training at Long Branch, Cal., where they lived off-base in an apartment of their own, have been transferred to a new base at Los Alamitos, six miles away. And there they have rented a house for themselves.

"Just like a fraternity house—without the books," Ed writes.

* * *

"The metropolis of Los Alamitos is a strike out," says Ed, "but the new base, which is being built from scratch, is a honey.

"Our work still consists of acting nursemaid to the cadets—I now have an entire flight class of 40 boys—and will keep them for three months when they will be transferred for advance training. It's a lot of fun and I like it.

"They just sent another chief out, played ball at Tulane and knows Bob Glass from Massillon, was Wally Moses' roomie when they were down at Galveston—the other chief earned nine letters at New Mexico U—and our fifth chief played at U. of Illinois, a good friend of Lou Boudreau."

* * *

Chatlain sends his regards to all the gang back in Mansfield, and his new address, for the benefit of any letter writers, is: Ed Chatlain, C. Sp. U. S. Naval Reserve Aviation Base, Los Alamitos, Calif.

Upset Scored In Women's Tourney

CHICAGO—(INS)—With one exception the favorites held true to form today as the women's Western Open golf tournament swung into the second round of match play at the Elmhurst Country club.

The upset came when Eleanor Dudley of Chicago, women's intercollegiate champion, lost her first round match yesterday to Marjorie Row of Detroit, one up.

LIBERTIES TAKE BOTH ENDS OF TWIN BILL

Liberty Park softballers today held a double victory over East Mansfield, 8 to 4 and 8 to 2, with C. Frank hurling a no-hitter in the second game. Errors led to the two runs by East Mansfield.

Frank and Wharton each got three hits in the first game.

Losing Streak Halted

Larry French Comes To Rescue of Dodgers.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

THE Brooklyn Dodgers have come up with another hero—Larry French, the doughty hurler the Brooklyns almost cut loose during spring training.

French stepped into the breach again last night in a relief role to beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-2 for his sixth triumph without a defeat this year.

* * *

The lefthander stopped Brooklyn's worst losing streak in May with a four-hit eleven-inning 3-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals; he stopped another short losing streak later that month by shutting out the New York Giants; and last week he stopped a St. Louis winning streak.

* * *

French always has been around when needed and last night when Whitlow Wyatt couldn't get his throwing arm loosened up, Larry was flagged in from the bull pen at the start of the third inning. The score was 2-2 at the time and French pitched shutout ball for the rest of the way and also set off the winning rally.

With two out in the fifth inning the pitcher singled. Two more hits loaded the bases and then Reiser singled two runs home and Medwick knocked another pair across with a double—extending his batting streak to 26 games.

* * *

The New York Yankees came out of their slump by nosing out the St. Louis Browns 6-5 with a 14-hit barrage including three safeties by Joe Gordon and a like number by Joe DiMaggio.

* * *

The Boston Red Sox smashed the Detroit Tigers into submission 6-2 with Oscar Judd scattering eight hits and himself getting one of Boston's three home runs. Ted Williams hit one, his 16th of the season, and Jim Tabor the other.

The Cleveland Indians also collected three homers in overpowering the Philadelphia Athletics 7-5. The Tribe's roundtrippers were by Oris Hockett, Les Fleming and Ken Keltner. Bob Johnson homered with two aboard for the A's.

The Cincinnati Reds, who had won 13 of their last 17 games, were rudely shut out by the New York Giants 7-0 as Bill Lohrman pitched a four-hitter.

The Chicago Cubs captured a free-hitting affair from the Philadelphia Phils 8-4 although outhit 13-12. The big blow in the Bruins' assault was a three-run homer by Lou Novikoff.

Winebrenner Hits Circuit Clout

Stub Winebrenner is making a habit of winning his own games. The Barnes Manufacturing hurler last evening clouted a home run in a 7 to 2 victory over Ideal Electrics. Parr hit for the circuit for the Ideals.

Mansfield Tires blanked Ohio Public Service 8 to 0 behind the four-hit hurling of Wentz. Harker and Mowery divided the four blows between them.

WAR BRINGS ABOUT CUB-SOX ARMISTICE

CHICAGO—(INS)—There was a slight armistice today in the 40-year feud between the Chicago Cubs and the White Sox, but it took a world war to bring it about.

The Cubs bought 100 tickets to Comiskey park for the game between the Sox and the Cleveland Indians the night of July 2. But it was a gesture of patriotism, because the game will be part of the Army-Navy night celebration.

Three Homers Stop Mackmen

Hockett, Fleming, and Keltner Clout Apple.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Long hitting regained the emphasis in the wigwam today.

After weeks of pitchers' battles for the Tribe, the Cleveland Indians and Philadelphia Athletics broke out with 12 hits each yesterday, the locals getting the 7-5 decision on the strength of three homers to one for the A's.

Les Fleming led the gunnery practice by getting three hits out of four trips to the plate. His big blast came in the home half of the third inning—with a drive over the right field fence for his seventh circuit clout this year.

Oris Hocket opened the barrage in the first inning by knocking one over the right field wall after Roy Weatherly had walked. It was Hockett's fourth home run of the season.

Kenny Keltner was the third Redskin to sock a four-bagger. His fifth of the year went to the concrete bleachers in left, and drove in Hockett who had doubled after two were out in the fourth frame.

The Athletics slapped the ball around a little themselves, especially in the fifth inning when they scored four tallies, three of them on Fielder Bob Johnson's home run.

To quash any such outburst of hitting today, the Indians named Al Milnar and the A's picked Rookie Dick Fowler.

Whirly Sets Track Mark Winning This One

In winning this race at Aqueduct race track, Long Island, N. Y., Whirlaway, Warren Wright's great four-year-old, set a track record of 1:49 2-5 for the mile and an eighth distance. Whirlaway picked up $2,275 to boost his lifetime earnings to $380,836, still needing $50,894 to top Seabiscuit's all-time high money-winning mark. Attention was second and Swing and Sway third in this race. Whirlaway is on the outside here, Attention, center, and Swing and Sway on the rail.

Lem Franklin Flops Again

Sgt. Joe Muscato Joins Latest Knockout Club.

By RAY BLOSSER

CLEVELAND—(AP)—This is the open season on slugging Lem Franklin who only a few months ago was knocking loudly at Joe Louis' door.

Sergeant Joe Muscato of Buffalo, N. Y., heretofore only a preliminary boy but a very tough one, blasted Franklin to sleep last night in the first round of a card attracting 23,574 customers to the big lakefront stadium, and providing some $25,000 net to put the Cleveland News' Bomber for MacArthur fund over the top with better than $320,000.

* * *

Bob Pastor started Lem's decline by knocking him out in the eighth round here several months ago, and gigantic Harry Bobo followed at Pittsburgh by whamming Franklin Down for keeps in the first stanza.

* * *

Franklin, who weighed 202 to Muscato's 187, went down twice in the first round and Referee Joe Sedley stopped hostilities at 2:58.

In another scheduled ten-rounder on the all-star card, Bobo had no more luck against southpaw Melio Bettina of Beacon, N. Y., than he did the first time. In a recent encounter Bettina got up from the floor to win, and did it again after the six-foot four-inch Pittsburgher hammered two smashing left hooks to the chin to put him down for a nine count in the fifth round.

Bettina, scaling only 187 to Bobo's 211, came back to virtually close the game Bobo's right eye and won decisively.

* * *

Anton Christoforidis, the former light heavyweight titleholder fighting out of Cleveland, convinced the customers his recent upset victory over New York's Johnny Colan was no fluke. He sent Colan ot the floor three times in the first round, and had him down again in the tenth for a one-sided decision. Colan weighed 175½, Christo 169.

* * *

A battle of Cleveland lightheavies saw Jimmy Bivins, 176, win over Joey Maxim, 178. The other ten-rounder produced a decision for Maxie Shapiro, 133¼, Brooklyn, N. Y., over Harry Teaney, 133, Cleveland.

After relating how a Texas league batsman fanned and was thrown out by the right fielder, we came across this one pulled by the Joplin Miners of the Western association: The Joplin catcher muffed a third strike and overthrew first. . . . While the first sacker went to retrieve the ball, the catcher, loaded with all his armor, beat the runner down the baseline and took the throw for a putout at first.

Joe Mayer Shoots 34 For Medal Honors.

Barnes & Schmid Tires toppled the News-Journal "A" league leading Long Bar golfers 2-1 at Possum Run last evening, but the second-place Richland Printing quartet was unable to gain as it was being edged 2-3 by Club Billiards.

Andregg Billiards scored the only shutout of the evening, a 5-0 win over Quaker Market. Weaver Supply and Big 3 Beers tied at 1-all.

Joe Mayer's two-under-par 34 took medal honors for the evening while Carl Wiseman hit even-par 36, and Harry Schlegel, Phil Schwaner, Al Hager and Al Kushin had cards of 37.

SENATORS REGAIN MAD-ATLANTIC LEAD

ZANESVILLE—(AP)—Charleston recaptured the Mid-Atlantic league lead it relinquished to Erie three days ago by downing Zanesville 7 to 1 last night as Springfield defeated Erie 5 to 4.

Canton won an 8-2 decision over Dayton. Springfield, in last place since May 28 with the exception of three days, turned the basement spot over to Zanesville which lost its 15th game in 18 starts.

Whitey Hits Circuit Blow

Blast Ends Provident Loan Losing Streak.

Ruth Whiteman's home run blast with Ev Jocha and Bucky Holda on the paths climaxed a five-run rally and ended the Provident Loan girls losing streak at Earhart last evening as the Mansfield state champions defeated Elyria's Frank's Bakery, 6-2.

Mary Bessemer, leading off with a single, and Donna Schuster, safe on an error by the shortstop, already had scored on Holda's single, after Jocha strolled.

The fourth-inning uprising by the Providents was as surprising as it was emphatic. Continuing in their hitting slump, they had sent only 10 batters to the dish in the first four frames.

They added another run in the sixth on singles by Schuster and Tipul.

Unseeded Netter Defeats Hickman

NEW ORLEANS—(INS)—Competition in the national intercollegiate tennis tournament moved at an increased tempo at Tulane university today at the nation's top-ranking college players matched strokes in second round matches.

The stars advanced with only one upset recorded in the first round. This came when unseeded Robert Jake of Northwestern came from behind and turned back eighth-seeded John Hickman of the University of Texas. By this victory, Jake earned the right to meet Jack Rodgers of Rice Institute in the second round.

Gillom, Six Others Flunk

Ohio State Gridiron Outlook Receives Blow.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Ohio State university's football outlook for 1942's campaign of 10 games took a nose dive today as seven of the 42 squad members, including two starters, were dismissed from school because of scholastic difficulties.

* * *

Definitely ineligible for the fall season, as a result of failing to maintain an accumulative point average of 1.5, were such stars as Horace Gillom, the huge Massillon colored freshman counted on to play right end and do the kicking, and John Rosen, the regular center from Isabella, Pa.

* * *

Coach Paul E. Brown, starting his second year at the Buckeye helm, now has a squad of 35, of whom 23 are freshmen, for the long 10-game schedule this fall.

2nd Division Clubs Click

Association Leaders Upset By Underdogs.

(By Associated Press)

Second division clubs in the American Association stole all the glory last night.

Extending their winning streak to seven in a row, the Columbus Red Birds took a 4-2 decision from league-leading Kansas City.

Last place Toledo held second-place Milwaukee to a divided twin bill. Milwaukee winning the first 3-1, Toledo the second game 5-4.

Indianapolis took its fourth straight by stopping third-place Minneapolis for the second night. The score was 4 to 2.

Seventh place St. Paul and Louisville split a double header, the Saints winning the nightcap 5-1. Score of the first game was 4-3.

College Golf Field Trimmed

Field Cut to Sixty For Match Play Test.

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — (AP) — With the field sifted down to 64 of the top college golfers, the National Intercollegiate tournament today entered daily 36-hole tests of match play from which the champion will emerge Saturday after 180 holes of competition.

* * *

As defending titlist Stewart did not need to qualify, he passed the medalist honors to Dick Haskell of Northwestern, who fired a 73 yesterday for 142.

* * *

Stewart had 141, however, and it was listed as a new medalist record. It also pushed Louisiana State into a tie with Stanford for the team championship. The four lowest scores carded by each team member added up to a 590 deadlock, ten strokes over Stanford's record-breaking total last year.

The qualifying limit was 155 and virtually all the favorites were under the wire and swinging through today's 36 holes which will leave only 16 players chasing the championship by nightfall.

Outstanding players who failed were Jim McCarthy of Illinois, the Big Ten champ, and Richard Holmes of Oberlin college, the Ohio conference champion.

WITH REGARD TO A CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The News-Journal meets a need which can hardly be solved in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes, but also courteously acknowledges the service and kindness of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed, or whose names or addresses are not known.

A "Card of Thanks" can now be arranged by telephone: Dial 4251-6, ask for Miss Lane. She will be glad to render service and advice you need.

YES, HAD HIS FORMULA ABOUT READY FOR EXPERIMENTATION AT THE PLANT! YOU CAN SEE WHY HE HAD TO WORK VERY CAUTIOUSLY, SECRETLY, TO AVOID ENEMY DETECTION. THAT'S WHY WE HAD THIS SEPARATE LABORATORY HERE.
AND THIS HANNA WORKED IN THE LABORATORY A WHILE?
BACK TO THOSE TWO MEN OUTSIDE IN THE STREET
WELL, WHAT ABOUT THAT GIRL?
BILL, DO YOU REMEMBER WHEN WE WERE TRAILING HORTON ON WEST STREET, HE STOPPED AT A WINDOW WHERE A GIRL WAS STANDING?
YEH! I REMEMBER THAT.

STOCKS GIVEN FAIR SUPPORT, LEADERS GAIN

Shoe Production Drops For First Time Since October 1940, Report Shows.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Stocks were given fair support in today's market dealings and most leaders established small gains.

Sharing in the improvement were General Motors, Loew's Kennecott, United Aircraft, Boeing, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck and Anaconda.

Students of industrial trends noted the report of the Tanners Council of America that shoe production in May, for the first time since October, 1940, dropped below the comparable month a year ago.

The month's output was estimated at 35 million pairs, a decline of 6.8 per cent from 1941. The council said that since production of shoes for government account has steadily increased, civilian output has recorded an even greater decline from a year ago than is indicated by its May figures.

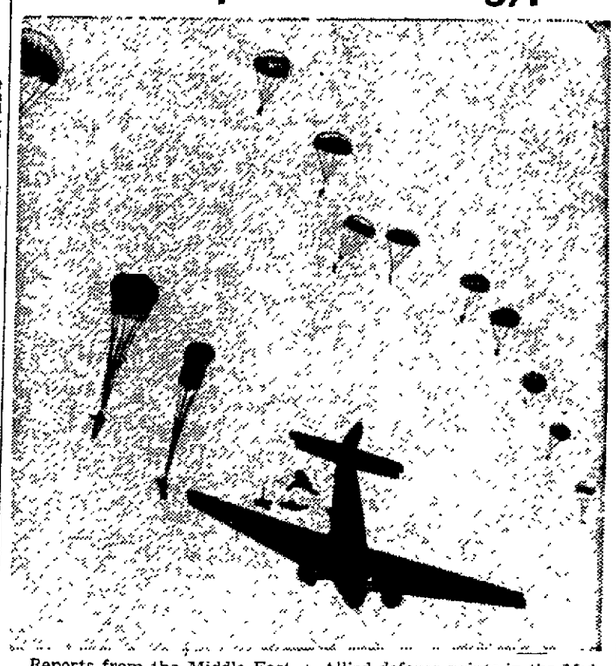
Paratroops to Attack Egypt?



Reports from the Middle East say that thousands of German parachute troopers have been trained and prepared on the German-held island of Crete for attacks on Egypt and other Allied defense points in the Middle East. Some of them were reported used in the Axis attack on Tobruk. Nazi paratroops are pictured dropping from transport planes in practice.

THEATERS

Mystery Comedy.

Gracie Allen co-stars with William Post, jr., of the New York stage instead of her husband, George Burns, for a change in the mystery-comedy, "Mr. and Mrs. North," at the Ritz. Miss Allen in her half of the title role almost manages to convict her husband of a murder by her garrulous manner with the police but at the last moment unwittingly saves him and solves the mystery. "The Night Before the Divorce," with Mary Beth Hughes and Joe Allen, jr., are in the cast.

* * *

Dramatic Story.

Story of a multi-millionaire who manufactures implements of war in the belief that "to make war on war" it is necessary to use all the strength of modern armaments is revealed in "Major Barbara," Park attraction opening Thursday. Based on George Bernard Shaw's story by the same name, the picture has a cast headed by Wendy Hiller, Robert Morley and Rex Harrison. Gabriel Pascal, the impresario who was responsible for the world-wide success of the production "Pygmalion," directed. "Valley of the Sun," with Lucille Ball and James Craig is the second production.

* * *

Romantic Musical.

Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy are teamed in "I Married An Angel," current attraction at the Ohio. Edward Everett Horton, Binnie Barnes and Reginald Owen are in the cast of the musical hit based on the Broadway production by the same name.

* * *

Exciting Drama.

Exciting drama played against the background of the days when America was young fills the Barbara Stanwyck-Joel McCrea production, "The Great Man's Lady," at the Madison. The story starts and ends in our time but harks back, for most of its action, to 1848 when the country was a trackless wilderness and a young couple set out to build a great city in the west. McCrea and Miss Stanwyck played the lead roles and Brian Donlevy is in the supporting cast.

DIES AT AGE 84

Mrs. Malvilla Rigby Succumbs After Brief Illness.

Mrs. Malvilla Rigby, 84, died today at 5 a. m. at her home, 286 Wayne street, following a brief illness.

Mrs. Rigby came to Mansfield 35 years ago from Holmes county where she was born Nov. 8, 1857. She was the widow of Harry Rigby.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Iva Heskett and a grandson, Martin.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday at 3 p. m. at the Wappner Funeral home with Rev. S. R. Parrett, pastor of the Gospel Center church, officiating. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

CHAPTER XIV

Behind the counter of the Sweet shop, Kay Kenyon and Bessie Munsell sealed the pact of their new-found friendship, and their mutual resolve to make the most of the opportunity at hand.

"So we're partners?" Kay held out her hand.

Bessie grasped it, clung as a drowning person clings to a spar. "And how!" she said.

Kay thought aloud, "I had an idea about selling that big shipment of brittle. The idea was impracticable. It might have been good if we could have done it. Mr. Lord asked me to think up something we can do. I haven't had the spark of an idea since."

Bessie was gazing out the front window.

"Look," she said. "They're putting up electrics for the new picture at the Little theater." Across the street workmen were spelling out words on the theater proceium. "What does it say? A kiss f-o-r C-i-n-d-e-r-e-l-l-a. A Kiss For Cinderella. Sounds good. I'd like a hunk of that Cinderella luck myself some sweet day."

Kay took the tray of caramels from Bessie, deposited them on the counter, then grabbed her newly acquired "partner" and swung that astonished young lady around in a mad whirligig.

"Bessie!" Kay cried. "We've got it! We have the big idea"

Bessie leaned against the counter to catch her breath. "Gosh," she said, "I hope it don't—I mean doesn't drive me nuts the way it has you."

* * *

A half hour later, Kay was talking with Mr. Lord.

"The idea is, 'A Kiss For Cinderella.' That's the movie across the street. Everyone will be going to it, discussing it, you know how it is in a small town like Somerset, every picture that comes here is news. So we'll have our own kiss for Cinderella. You've heard of candy kisses. They're just a whiff of sugar and egg white with nuts in them. I make them every year for Christmas presents. They're my specialty."

"Yes?" Mr. Lord said, moving forward in his chair. He had been skeptical at first. Now there was a gleam in his eye.

"I could go to your candy kitchen, where they make your home-made candies, and show them how I do candy kisses. We'd have to start right now because the picture opens the day after tomorrow."

"Um. And how do you propose to let the customers know we have these new knick-knacks?" Mr. Lord was now pacing the floor.

"Why like you said, Mr. Lord, about the walnut orchard. Fine, but where could we get a pecan orchard? We can get a coach for Cinderella, and the kisses too. There's a darling little coach in the toy section, Franks department store. I saw it only a couple of days ago. White horses drawing it, with plumes in the manes. We'll get the coach, Bessie and I will fix a Cinderella doll to step from the coach, and we'll have the candy kisses pouring from a big cardboard slipper, in the Sweet shop window. And a placard or maybe even blue neon lights that say, 'A Kiss For Cinderella'."

Mr Lord went on pacing.

Suddenly he stopped, brought his fist down on his desk with a resounding whack.

"By golly, Miss Kenyon," he said, "I believe you've hit the spot. You think big, but maybe big is what this shop needs. You've upped our lunches and our teas. No reason why you can't up our candies. When do we start."

"Right now," Kay said, suppressing a skip-step. "If I could have leave for say 15 minutes, to get the coach. We must make sure of that first. And the Cinderella doll. Bessie and I can dress her tonight.
